WILDLIFE AT STAGE'S POND

Don't Destroy Our Heritage

By W. W. HIGGINS
An Editorial

A few months ago most of us had never heard of Stage's Pond. Now, many of us have invested in its future. Stage's Pond is a one time thing. It's the last of its kind in this area. Had someone asked a year ago, "What is a kettle-hole?" most of us could not have answered. Now some of us know that it is a steep hollow, without surface drainage, which lies in a deposit of glacial "drift".

The archaeologists think that such a "kettle-hole" was formed when a large chunk of ice broke loose from the glacier and was buried under the "drift" (that is, the rocks and soil carried beneath the moving glacier). When the glacier withdrew, about 14,000 years ago, the chunk of ice melted, leaving a great crater in the "drift".

I know there are skeptics. Someone said to me, "Why try to save a swamp?" Well, for one thing, it's more than a swamp. There are from 30 to 40 acres of pond with a fair depth of water. In addition, there are plants, animals and birds in such quantity and variety as would be difficult to find anywhere else in this area.

Hérons, ducks and killdeer find refuge in the area. In the neighboring woods the mockingbird, the bluebird and the flicker find a home. This is not only the last large kettle pond in this area, it is the last stand for some of the wildlife in this part of the country.

We have an obligation to preserve at least the best of our own heritage for our children. We need animals and birds to preserve the balance of nature. We need open space if we expect to go on breathing. Stage's Pond is a small thing, but, once it is gone, part of the beauty, part of the reality of nature will be gone with it.

Do we have to wait another 14,000 years for the next glacier to do it all over again? Don't let apathy destroy your birthright. Send your contribution to Miss Miriam Weaver, General Chairman, Stage's Pond Fund Drive, c/o The Second National Bank of Circleville, Drawer 230, Circleville.

Nixon Determined Not To Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, responding to mounting calls for his resignation, vows he has "no intention whatever of walking away from the job I was elected to do."

Nixon voiced his determination to hold onto his office in "a personal note" at the end of a television-radio address to the nation Wednesday night on energy problems. Speaking without notes, he said:

"...I would like to give my answer to those who have suggested that I resign.

"I have no intention whatever of walking away from the job I was elected to do. As long as I am physically able, I am going to continue to work 16 to 18 hours a day for the cause of a real peace abroad, and for the cause of prosperity without inflation and war at home."

While talk of possible resignation or impeachment has mounted sharply in recent days, Nixon seemed to place no great urgency on finding a way out of his current predicament, speaking of it as a long-range operation.

"I am confident that in the months ahead," he said, "the American people will come to realize that I have not violated the trust that they placed in me when they elected me as President of the United States in the past, and I pledge to you tonight that I shall always do everything that I can to be worthy of that trust in the future."

Since the leadership crisis exploded, presidential aides also have talked in terms of weeks and months, rather than days, in discussing Nixon's plans to rebut his critics.

Speaking of Watergate and related matters, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said earlier Wednesday:

"We are giving consideration to a number of steps that the President will be taking here in the coming weeks and months to clarify this matter and to put it into perspective."

The White House announced Wednesday the hiring of an additional legal consultant, Miami attorney Samuel Powers Jr., to help handle Watergate-related questions. Ziegler said there will be a further expansion of Nixon's legal team because "you cannot deal with over a hundred lawyers with five." The spokesman said the objective is to meet promptly and "in an orderly and effective way" the requirements of various investigative units including the Watergate special prosecutor's office, federal grand juries and the Senate Watergate committee.

War Power Bill Veto Overridden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has enacted over President Nixon's veto a bill limiting the power of the president to wage undeclared war.

The action Wednesday was the first successful override of a presidential veto in nine tries this year.

Termed unconstitutional by President Nixon, the bill bars the president from committing U.S. troops to combat for more than 60 days without specific approval from Congress. Congress can terminate such an engagement sooner by majority vote in the House and Senate.

Backers of the war powers measure, first introduced three years ago, attributed the vote to overwhelming public support in the wake of the Vietnam war.

The House voted 284 to 135 to override, four more than the two-thirds needed.

The Senate completed the action by 75 to 18, or 13 more than required.

In the House, 86 Republicans voted to override and 103 were against. Among Democrats, 198 were for and 32 against overriding.

In the Senate, 25 Republicans voted against the President's position and 15 supported it. Fifty Democrats voted for overriding and three against.

After the vote, Nixon said the bill "seriously undermines this nation's ability to act decisively and convincingly in times of international crisis."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said that to involve Congress, with its cumbersome procedures, in war-making decisions would cause "rejoicing in the streets of Moscow."

Tower expressed hope that the constitutionality of the bill will be challenged in court "at the earliest possible opportunity."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., leader of Senate backers of the bill, denied that the bill changed the constitutional powers of either the president or the Congress, but simply provided "a methodology" by which the president and Congress can concur in war-making decisions.

Javits said recent events involving the President may have been a factor in the override, but Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said there should be no interpretation that any vote in the House or Senate was influenced by Watergate-related incidents.

The congressional action, Percy said, reflected "a feeling deeply felt by the American people that there should be no further undeclared wars without the concurrence of Congress."

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., House Republican leader and vice president-designate, urged the House not to turn against the President at a time of diplomatic effort to attain a Middle East Peace.

Energy Crisis Curtails Yule Lighting Here

Jaycee representative Dr. Robert Liggett was present at the meeting of the Retail Merchants yesterday and notified them of the lighting situation for this year's Christmas decorations. Due primarily to the present energy crisis, the lights will only be displayed at Court and Main St.

The Jaycees will decorate the four poles on Court and Main, decorate the court house Christmas tree, sponsor the Santa house and the Christmas parade but further decorations will be left up to the individual merchants.

Since the price of stringing the lights alone has doubled in recent years, the Jaycees have decided to discontinue the non-profit project this year in keeping with the energy conservation policy.

Energy Curbs Are Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has asked Congress to give him emergency power to ration gasoline and oil, cut working hours, reduce highway speed limits, put the nation on year-round Daylight Saving Time and suspend antipollution programs.

Congressional spokesmen predicted Nixon would get the powers quickly. The President said Wednesday he wants them by mid-December.

In a nationwide broadcast outlining his energy proposals, Nixon set 1980 as a target date for the United States to achieve energy self-sufficiency. He called for research and development programs rivaling the all-out efforts that developed the atomic bomb and put American astronauts on the moon.

The President also departed from his text to say he had "no intention of walking away" from his office despite some demands that he resign.

With petroleum heading for 10 to 17 per cent shortages because of Arab oil cutoffs, Nixon warned that the nation faces "the most acute shortages of energy since World War II."

Consumers of home heating oil must get through the winter with only 85 per cent of the fuel they used last year, Nixon said.

Airline flights will be reduced 10 per cent through federal allocation of jet fuel, Nixon added.

He said a "contingency plan" for gasoline rationing was in preparation, but energy adviser John A. Love and an official fact sheet both said plans were being readied for the rationing of gasoline and heating oil.

Love said a decision on rationing must be made by December or January.

Gov. Robert B. Docking of Kansas, briefed with other governors by the President, said, "I wouldn't be surprised to see rationing after the first of the year."

Nixon said power plants now burning coal will be barred from switching to shortage-stricken oil or gas. Love said this regulation will be issued in about 10 days.

Nixon also asked for legislation allowing him to order power plants to switch from petroleum back to coal if they can do it.

Home heating oil, jet fuel, diesel fuel, kerosene and propane gas already are under mandatory federal allocation controlling their distribution at the wholesale level.

Love said mandatory allocation would be extended soon to all petroleum products under existing presidential authority.

Nixon's actions and requests for new authority were brought on during recent weeks by the Middle East war and the Arab nations' decision to cut off oil to friends of Israel.

Explaining the urgency of the administration's requests, Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, one of those briefed by the President, said: "I think the people of this country don't want to be blackmailed and don't want to be dependent on Arab oil."

Nixon ordered immediate steps already within his power, urged legislation to grant new powers, and proposed what he called "Project Independence" to get the United States moving under its own power by 1980.

The immediate steps taken by Nixon were:

—A public appeal to conserve energy. Homeowners were asked to lower thermostats 6 degrees and businesses were asked to achieve the equivalent of a 10-degree thermostat reduction by reducing working hours or heating.

—The drafting of regulations to bar power plants from switching from coal to petroleum.

—Fuel allocations to reduce air flights 10 per cent.

—An order to lower federal agency thermostats and forbid the 500,000 federal vehicles from being driven faster than 50 miles an hour except in emergencies.

—A recommendation to the Atomic Energy Commission to speed the licensing of nuclear power plants and an order to the Transportation Department to give priority processing to grant requests for purchase of mass transit buses.

Love said the President probably would not submit separate draft legislation but would work with Congress to develop legislation already introduced by Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, predicted Senate passage of such legislation next week. House Democratic Whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., said it could be adopted by Congress by the time it recesses, around Dec. 15.

Nixon's legislative requests included:

—Authority to relax environmental programs by granting one-year waivers to power plants and factories from air and water quality standards.

—Authority to take emergency actions without first preparing and reviewing their environmental impact.

—Authority to limit commercial working hours, and to set a speed limit of 50 miles an hour on interstate highways.

—Clear authority to ration fuels.

—Approval to increase production from the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California, with any proceeds earmarked for development of another naval reserve on Alaska's north slope, the scene of major commercial petroleum discovery.

—Authority for regulatory agencies to alter transportation schedules, for the Federal Power Commission to suspend price regulation on new natural gas and for the Atomic Energy Commission to issue temporary operating licenses for atomic power plants.

See Speedy Action On Energy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders have promised prompt action on most or all of the energy-saving measures requested by President Nixon in his address to the nation.

Senate Interior Chairman Henry M. Jackson said his committee would hold public hearings on emergency legislation today and would report a bill out by Friday. Senate approval could be expected next week, Jackson said.

On the House side, Democratic whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., predicted action on the President's proposals before the December recess. "If he wants a bill, we'll give him a bill," said Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., chairman of the House subcommittee on power.

In his Wednesday night address, Nixon accused Congress of failing to act on any of the energy measures he had sent to the Hill. The President said it was now "imperative" that Congress pass legislation establishing year-round Daylight Saving Time, authorizing relaxation of clean-air standards, the tapping of naval petroleum reserves and giving the government power to reduce speed limits nationwide and restrict working hours.

Macdonald said Nixon already had the authority to do most of what he asked and accused the President of playing "an absolute shell game" in blaming Congress for inaction.

Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., said he and other oil-state senators oppose one presidential proposal that would allow the federal government to regulate the intrastate production and use of oil and gas.

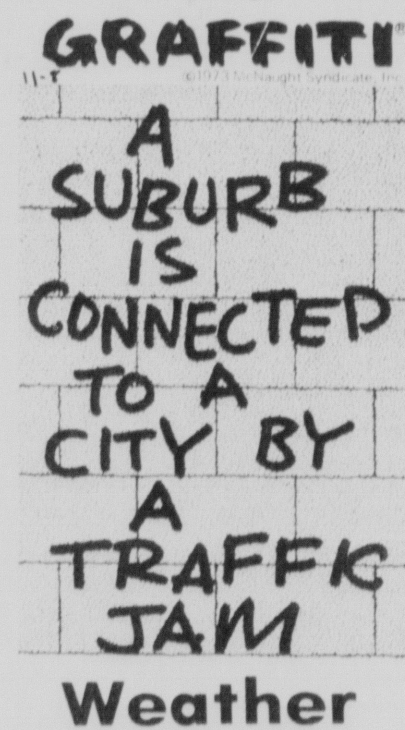

Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, said the President's message "did not contain enough specifics in dollars or programs to do the job. The $10 billion mentioned by the President is considerably less than we spent on Apollo and probably only 10 per cent of what is actually needed," he added.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said Nixon "has made a good — although belated — beginning in facing up to the energy shortage," and the National Association of Manufacturers said it "supports the general thrust" of the President's message.

ROUNDTOWN

AS explained in Roundtown yesterday, voting returns are yet "unofficial" . . . Jim Locke, candidate for president of council, called to our attention the fact our figures didn't tally on the race . . . We checked and he was right . . . So we checked with the board of elections . . . Seems the problem was with a malfunctioning adding machine and a proper correction had been made at the board of election but not until after The Herald had left the board office with the results . . . However, there was no difference in who won the race . . . Joe Bell received 1,499 votes and Locke 705 according to corrected figures . . . Official results will be announced in about a week and a half.

LEAF pickup is running behind schedule because of the sudden accumulation of leaves it was reported by Atwood Jones, director of public service . . . Service crews are presently working in the Franklin-Main area and are moving northward.

Chance of showers today, high mid 40s. Low tonight, upper 20s with a chance of snow flurries. Cloudy and cold Friday, high, mid 30s. Possibility of precipitation, 60 per cent today and tonight and 20 per cent tomorrow.

Middle East Front 'Tense And Explosive'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's top assistant on Middle East affairs talked far into the night with Premier Golda Meir and key members of her government about Kissinger's meetings with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Israel, meanwhile, charged that Egypt was preparing to attack along the Suez Canal. And Egypt, which has been threatening to renew the war if the Israeli troops on the west bank of the canal don't pull back, said the situation was "tense and explosive" and its armies were in position to crush the Israelis.

Kissinger's peace-seeking tour continued with visits today to King Hussein of Jordan in Amman and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia in Riyadh.

Kissinger's emissary, Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco, hurried from Cairo to Tel Aviv Wednesday to meet with Mrs. Meir, Deputy Premier Yigal Allon and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan. An Israeli communique said their discussion took place "in a good and constructive atmosphere," and an informant close to Mrs. Meir commented, "The talks are not going badly for Israel."

There were indications that Sisco's mission was chiefly concerned with arrangements to prevent a resumption of fighting along the canal, rather than peace negotiations.

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said Kissinger and his aides in their talks Wednesday with the Egyptians "focused a good deal of attention on the immediate situation on the ground . . . The form of eventual negotiations has not been settled." And when asked if the Americans were optimistic that the tension along the Suez front would be reduced, he replied, "We will perhaps know better after we have conversations with Israel."

McCloskey gave no indication of what was being proposed, but he denied that Sisco had been sent to pressure the Israelis.

Other U.S. officials said the U.S. position was now more acceptable to the Israelis than it was when Mrs. Meir visited Washington last week.

Official U.S. sources said Sadat was not pressured into concessions but that he was willing to go along with U.S. initiatives to resolve immediate cease-fire problems and to get the peace process under way — perhaps by the end of the year.

The United States and Egypt announced that they had agreed to exchange ambassadors immediately as a prelude to the resumption soon of diplomatic relations, which Egypt broke during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

The State Department said the American envoy will be Hermann Frederick Eilts, a career diplomat who speaks Arabic fluently. He will join a detachment of six Americans stationed at the Spanish Embassy in Cairo. The Egyptian ambassador will be Ashraf Ghorbal, who from 1967 to 1972 headed the small diplomatic mission that represents Egypt at the Indian Embassy in Washington.

The war talk spread as a spokesman for the Israeli military command said Egyptian troops were preparing for new warfare, and "we are taking a very grave view of the situation." He cited an Egyptian news report that Egyptian forces were on a "high alert."

Associated Press correspondent Paul Kohn reported from an Israeli checkpoint on the west bank of the Suez Canal that no tension or unusual alert was visible among the Israeli forces. But Egypt's Middle East News Agency said the Israeli troops on the west bank are in pockets that "have been encircled by the Egyptian forces and would be completely destroyed once the fighting is resumed."

A U.N. spokesman in Cairo reported "minor incidents" on the canal front

Wednesday, including Israeli flights over Egyptian positions and a shooting incident in which an Egyptian liaison officer with the U.N. men was wounded.

Syria, meanwhile, charged Israel with cease-fire violations on the Syrian front for the second day in a row. It said Israeli forces tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to cross cease-fire lines on the Golan Heights, and "our artillery silenced sources of enemy fire."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban wound up a three-day visit to Romania, the only Soviet bloc country that still recognizes Israel. He denied that he met with Arab or Russian representatives in Bucharest but said he expected Romania to pass on his views to the Arabs.

- Authority to limit commercial working hours, and to set a speed limit of 50 miles an hour on interstate highways.

- Clear authority to ration fuels.

- Approval to increase production from the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California, with any proceeds earmarked for development of another naval reserve on Alaska's north slope, the scene of major commercial petroleum discovery.

- Authority for regulatory agencies to alter transportation schedules, for the Federal Power Commission to suspend price regulation on new natural gas and for the Atomic Energy Commission to issue temporary operating licenses for atomic power plants.

Wednesday, including Israeli flights over Egyptian positions and a shooting incident in which an Egyptian liaison officer with the U.N. men was wounded.

Syria, meanwhile, charged Israel with cease-fire violations on the Syrian front for the second day in a row. It said Israeli forces tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to cross cease-fire lines on the Golan Heights, and "our artillery silenced sources of enemy fire."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban wound up a three-day visit to Romania, the only Soviet bloc country that still recognizes Israel. He denied that he met with Arab or Russian representatives in Bucharest but said he expected Romania to pass on his views to the Arabs.

H. Rap Brown Pleads Guilty

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Black militant H. Rap Brown has pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge after Maryland dropped felony charges against the former director of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Dorchester County State's Atty. William B. Yates II said Tuesday that charges of arson, inciting to riot and riot against Brown in connection with violence at Cambridge, Md., six years ago would not be prosecuted.

Since the charges were filed, the chief of police at Cambridge in 1967 and other witnesses have died, Yates explained.

We are pleased to have been contacted by congenial Mrs. Twyla Lorentz of the Pickaway County Senior Citizens Center requesting assistance in getting the word around in regard to the first-time-ever-in-this-area Glaucoma Screening Test. It will be conducted Sunday, 5 p.m., at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House, 135 E. Mound St., Circleville.

All persons age 35 and over are urged to take just a few minutes to participate in this highly worthwhile testing. Sponsored by the Ohio Society for Prevention of Blindness and the Senior Center there will be no charge and all testing will be done by professional people.

Should anyone have a family history of glaucoma then they should be tested regardless of age. Posters are at the Post Office, Glitt's Market and the First National Bank here in our town and I also have some pamphlets that have been passed around to a few homes. If you are interested and did not receive one please call me and one will be readily available for you.

Also, if there is anyone in our town or nearby who would like to have the testing but no available transportation do phone me at 986-3481 and I shall surely arrange for transportation. This is such a very important opportunity—do please take advantage!

Mummer Winners

As always the annual American Legion Post 618 mummies parade was a howling success with a large turnout. The coveted prizes of trophies and cash for first place and cash for second and third were won by Mike and Jane Ellen Whitten, first; Joe Valone second; Shirley Thompson, third in the Most Original category.

Prettiest was Tonda Bivens, first; Teresa Tarbill, second; Shirley Copley, third. Ugliest went to Teresa Stonerock, first; Tina, Vicki and Scott Cottrell, second; Jay Lane, third.

Doing the difficult task of judging were American Legion Seventh District Officers: Commander and Mrs. Eugene Ladrach of Washington C. H., First Vice Commander James Cleveland of Chillicothe and Ass't. Sgt. of Arms Mike Mahoney of Circleville.

Miss Nancy Keller provided the mummies marching music in her own unimitable style on the piano. Traditional refreshments were served by local Commander Harry Keller Jr. and his fellow legionnaires.

Our "really with it" neighbors Harry and Emma Puffinbarger entertained their euchre club recently and members enjoying the conviviality of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Paul List of Five Points, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel, Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Naoh List of Pherson.

This past Sunday the Puffinbargers embarked bright and early for Marion, where they were the guests of Emma's grandson and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dean Steinhauser and children. Granddaughter Peggy (Mrs. Lester) McMurphy and her daughters also of Marion joined the family group. Going to Marion with the Puffinbargers were Noah and Mabel List of Pherson.

Taking advantage of the glorious fall day Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Smith of Urbana who drove down to spend the day with brother Gene and his Helen.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker were pleased to have the company of their daughter, Jean and her husband the Rev. Clyde A. Miller of Lima, as their Monday overnight guests. The Rev. Miller is with the Lima Zion Lutheran Church.

Earl and Maxine Lanman had the "kids" home Sunday for some of mom's cookin'. Devoring the gustatory delights were Marvin and Susan Spradlin of Five Points, Jim and Karen Dean and mirthful Michele of our town, and Mrs. Alan (Barbara) Bradshaw of Little Walnut. Mr. Alan was on duty at WNRE.

Big John boy and Sue Graffis with T-Bird: theyed up to Lancaster for a family reunion type evening and dinner Sunday at the home of Sue's parents Ralph and Edna Piper. Other relatives in the Lancaster area were there too.

Each year on the first Sunday of November, all United Methodist Churches observe the Great Day of United Methodist Singing. The purpose is to provide an experience in the singing of the great hymns of the Methodist Hymnal. Such an observance was held at the Williamsport U.M. Church this past Sunday evening.

Planned by the Worship Area of Work committee, the program consisted of welcome words by Billy Carter, group singing, prayer by Jim Howell, group singing, special music by Ronald Driesbach, Jerri Kaiser, Beverly Whitten, Clark Hunsicker, a sharing time, more special music by Mary Woods, Dorsey Bumgarner, Beverly Whitten, a piano and organ duet by Nancy Keller and Verna Mowery, request time (hymn selections from the congregation), special music by Ronald Driesbach, Kaiser family (Jay, Jerri) Dorsey Bumgarner, Friendship Prayer Circle, closing remarks by Bill Carter.

Serving as organist was Nancy Keller and pianists were Verna Mowery, Marybille Crosby and Evelyn Kaiser.

A Page Of Opinion

Jobless Decrease

A drop in the unemployment rate to 4.5 per cent of the work force from the previous 4.8 per cent rate, just announced by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, is a dramatic improvement. It reflects continued business activity at high level.

In a way, it also is a reflection of a continuation of the inflationary trend. Particularly as this has affected the value of the dollar in the world's monetary markets.

The dollar now is at a level which has forced countries exporting to the United States to announce repeated increases in prices. Imports have been affected sufficiently as a result to restore a favorable balance of trade, at least temporarily.

But the decrease in unemployment must be regarded as the most favorable economic sign of all. This trend may make slowing inflation more difficult, but no one wants to see more joblessness.

Farewell To DST

In these days, it may be appropriate to remember that the idea of daylight saving time is almost as old as the nation itself.

Benjamin Franklin saw the possibility in 1784 in an essay called "Economic Project for Diminishing the Cost of Light." Then minister to France, Mr.

Franklin estimated that Parisian merchants could save the cost of 96 million candles if they opened and closed earlier each day during the summer.

The same rationale applied when daylight saving time got its start in Great Britain in 1916. That was well into the age of electrified candlepower, and the purpose was wartime conservation. Since then, however, "summer time" has been equated mainly with additional opportunity for outdoor activity.

One thing is certain: there is widespread yearning for the return of longer evenings of daylight six months from now.

Campus Totalitarians

By JEFFREY HART

In recent months we have been spared those flamboyant campus events of the 1960s—the building seizures, the trashing, the bullhorn rhetoric. This does not mean, however, that campus intellectual life has returned altogether to normal—i.e., that scholarly inquiry and the exchange of opinion take place under circumstances of freedom. The campus totalitarians are alive and well, and determined to block the expression of any view they find ideologically disagreeable.

A couple of weeks ago, for example, the Harvard Law School Forum found itself most unwillingly canceling a scheduled debate between Roy Innis of CORE and Prof. William Shockley of Stanford. Shockley, of course, is a proponent of the view that I.Q. is heavily influenced by hereditary factors, and that racial variations in I.Q. exist. Among those working in this field, differences do exist as regards method, and conclusion, but Arthur Jensen of Berkeley, Hans Eysenck of the London School of Economics, and Richard Herrnstein of Harvard have argued the same case, and are scholars of impeccable credentials.

Roy Innis is a well-known black spokesman, articulate enough to hold his own with anyone, and it could have been a lively encounter.

Only it never took place. The executive board of the Law School Forum, under intense pressure from some "elements" of what is euphemistically called the "Harvard community," canceled it. For "elements" a fair translation would be: militant blacks and their totalitarian-left allies on the faculty. The president of the Law Forum lamented that "conditions are such at Harvard that a free and open debate cannot be held on any subject." He cited the fear of violence.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Painful boils crop out on the back of my neck. I know by my weight that I eat more than I should. Therefore the suggestion of my girl friend that this might be a vitamin deficiency confuses me.

Do you think this could be a factor?
Mr. H.R.R., Ind.

Dear Mr. R.: Boils and carbuncles at the back of the neck are always caused by bacteria that invade a break in the skin. The most frequent germ responsible for these infections that begin in the hair follicle is the staphylococcus aureus.

Skin bruised by tight collars and by marked sweating is a good candidate for small breaks in the skin where these germs can set up housekeeping. Once this happens, they flourish and small, painful abscesses occur singly, or in crops.

Diet itself is not responsible for infection. Germs are. There are many food faddists who insist that foods, and only foods, are the cause of many illnesses.

Undoubtedly, diet plays an important role in health, but it is not the total answer to all of man's ills.

I want to add incidentally that massive caloric intake may still represent a diet with inadequate vitamins. It would be worthwhile to find out if your diet contains good nutritional balance along with adequate minerals and vitamins.

Scrupulous cleanliness of the skin, followed by a fine powder, may prevent the skin from being bruised and make it less vulnerable to infection and boils.

I have gone over the list of signers, and it may be some comfort that not a single one possesses any scholarly reputation at all: this is the lumpen totalitarian campus left, mindless and repressive, the academic mass man.

But unless faculties and administrators possess some principle and courage such totalitarians can work their will, as at Harvard.

skin characteristics?
Miss J.D., Okla.

Dear Miss D.: No two people, not even identical twins, have the same palm and fingerprints.

Skin patterns and ridges are unique with each person, and therefore these are used scientifically to differentiate one person from another.

When albumin is found in the urine does it indicate severe trouble?
Mr. P.B.N., Ky.

Dear Mr. N.: Albumin is not normally found in the urine. Occasionally, because of diet or fatigue, a trace of albumin may be present in a single specimen.

When the test is repeated, the albumin may be absent.

Such an occasional finding is unimportant. When, however, albumin is found regularly the cause must be traced, since its presence may indicate some abnormality in the blood or the kidneys.

Urges Development Of U.S. Oil Shale

WASHINGTON (AP) — Establishment of a government-public corporation to help accelerate development of the nation's oil shale resources was proposed Wednesday by Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, in a House speech.

Vanik said such a corporation, publicly owned but government initiated, could compete also with private industry and thus ensure reasonable consumer oil prices.

According to Ohio law, Circleville conducted an election despite the fact that not a single person whose name was on the ticket had opposition. A full staff of election booth workers was on hand just in case anyone wished to cast a ballot.

Lieutenant Emmanuel Hundley was home on leave from the armed forces. Hundley was a paratrooper stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

With sufficient money remaining in its treasury to meet 1943 obligations, Pickaway County Community Chest trustees voted to refrain from conducting a financial campaign this year.

Pickaway County civilian population was gradually decreasing, a survey made by the U. S. Bureau of Census showed that the county had lost 6.6 per cent of its population from April 1, 1940 to March 1, 1943.

The census bureau reported that the county's population in 1940 was 27,889 but that in the three year period up to March 1943 it had skidded to 26,035.

A spring-like storm hit the Circleville area with lightning and thunder accompanying the downpour.

Deny Noted Cello Player Gravely Ill

LONDON (AP) — Attorneys for cellist Jacqueline Du Pre have labeled untrue published reports that she will never be able to play in public again because she is suffering from multiple sclerosis.

The musician's husband, Israeli conductor Daniel Barenboim, said Tuesday that medical tests show she has a mild case of the disease, but he added, "No doctor has said she will never play again."

Miss Du Pre, 28, who studied under masters such as the late Pablo Casals, had not appeared in concert since February.

Business World

By JOSH FITZHUGH
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — How does one go about restructuring the nation's sprawling securities industry into a modern, centralized model of efficiency?

Not easily, as it turns out. Efforts toward such a central market have raised a long list of interlocking issues that have surrounded the whole subject with controversy.

Almost everybody favors the idea of a central market linking the separate exchanges and markets into one coordinated network. But when it comes down to the specifics of who will take what role in that market, agreement has been scarce on Wall Street and in Washington.

Here is a capsule look at some of the major questions that remain to be resolved:

ACCESS: One group, led by the government, wants access to the central market for everyone in the industry. This would include specialists, who match orders auction-style on the exchanges, and dealers, who make markets by buying and selling from their own accounts. It would include all exchanges and markets, particularly the so-called "third market," where dealers serve banks and pension funds by trading in large blocks of stock listed on the exchanges.

The New York and American Stock exchanges and Securities Industry Association, by contrast, prefer a market operating through market-making specialists only.

The government says dealers should compete directly to offer potentially better prices and to provide the liquidity to absorb large blocks. The big exchanges, however, say the inclusion of dealers would destroy the auction market and turn brokerage houses into dealer firms, thereby creating a conflict of interest as one firm serves both as broker-agent and buyer-seller.

James Needham, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, wants the whole network to adopt the exchange's rule prohibiting market-makers, the entities which set prices, from dealing directly with institutions, as dealers do.

IMPLEMENTATION: The Securities and Exchange Commission says the first step toward a central market is a composite tape to disclose all transactions. By showing discrepancies in prices in various markets, "the implementation would necessarily precipitate some restructuring of the way securities are traded today," the SEC claims.

The Big Board wants equal regulations and standards established before the tape begins operation, however. And the SIA feels that central administrative facilities are essential before any trading can be conducted over the network.

As conceived now the composite tape would reveal the price, quantity and location of all trades. Those who feel the system would create chaos if implemented, because of the price differences, say the SEC is using the tape principally as a threat to get the industry in line. Denying this, the SEC's central market architect, John Liftin, says, "All it will do is disclose what already takes place."

OPERATION: Who will run and pay for the national communications network is still in question. Some feel that the present Amex and NYSE could together handle the reporting of trades, while the NASDAQ system now in use in the over-the-counter market could provide a means of reporting bids and asked quotations.

The Big Board and Amex would like their present joint automation venture to run the total network, while the government, particularly Congress, is for a neutral or quasi-governmental body.

As to the cost of the communications network, estimates run anywhere from $50 million to $150 million depending on whom you talk to and whether they like the government's approach. "The cost will be astronomical and it's being forced down our throats," said Virgil Sherrill of Shields & Co., head of the SIA's central market committee.

LISTING: Presently stocks on many companies are listed on exchanges, while the securities of thousands more remain unlisted and are traded only in the over-the-counter market. And some of the listed stocks also are traded away from the exchanges in the "third market."

The Big Board and the SIA believe "publicly owned companies should have the option of choosing where to trade their securities," according to Sherrill. The government and the SEC would permit trading wherever competitive reasons make it profitable for the specialist or dealer to handle a given stock.

FIXED RATES: Nearly 200 years ago the New York Stock Exchange began to set the commissions that member firms could charge investors. This fall the SEC asserted its insistence on an end to all fixed rates by April 30, 1975.

Though the SEC decision has recently been termed a "fait accompli" by the Big Board's Needham, there is still much controversy on Wall Street over abolition of fixed rates, with some saying the decision may yet be reversed.

A House committee which studied the industry concluded that "the resolution of the commission rate issue is the key to resolving most of the major questions concerning the shape of our nation's securities markets."

In a recent report to directors, the Big Board's staff said fixed rates are necessary because without them the auction market would be undermined. Only the large brokerage firms would survive, the staff argued, and they would find it economically advantageous to withdraw from the NYSE and other exchanges. The core of this argument, the staff said, is that "open competition amongst a multiplicity of brokerage firms could not be sustained."

Those who favor competitive rates say fixed rates breed inefficiency and distortion. They contend that fixed rates and the exchanges' steps to safeguard them encourage an unhealthy exclusivity on Wall Street.

Penelope The Gorilla Pregnant

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Penelope has been up to her amorous ways again.

The 19-year-old lowland gorilla, already the mother of three, is expecting again, the Cincinnati Zoo announced Wednesday.

The father, for the fourth time in four years, is 475-pound King Tut, who at 24 takes these things in stride.

Penelope and King Tut are believed to be the world's oldest pair of the endangered lowland species. They are among 10 gorillas at the zoo, which currently is tied with Basel, Switzerland for the most lowland gorilla births. Both zoos have six.

Penelope is a gift to the zoo from the famed Dr. Albert Schweitzer, who sent her to Ohio after Cincinnati school children presented him with a herd of goats.

Edward Maruska, zoo director, said the birth is expected in May. He also said that the zoo's other producing pair, Hatari and Matari, may be expecting their fourth.

Japanese Trade

Delegation In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A trade delegation from Japan will visit three Ohio cities this weekend to examine potential industrial locations, the Department of Economic and Community Development said Wednesday.

Two representatives of the Osaka, Japan, Chamber of Commerce will arrive in Cleveland Friday, visit Akron Friday and Saturday and spend Saturday evening and Sunday in Cincinnati.

One vote margins and city council reverses stood out Tuesday as Ohio voters registered their choices in local political races and bond issues.

In Western Reserve, voters defeated a bond issue for school construction improvements by a slim one vote margin—485 to 486.

But the Berlin-Milan school district passed an additional tax levy by two votes, 780 to 778.

County boards of education in both Erie and Huron counties said they had asked for recounts.

In Findlay, Democrats traded places with Republicans in party strength on the city council. Democrats had held seven of the nine seats, but saw the Republicans win seven of the nine Tuesday.

Suburban Mount Healthy voters, after seeking delays for nearly 10 years, voted to let Hamilton County build a two mile link to the long planned Cross County Highway.

The highway runs through the southern edge of the city of 22,000. The vote was 1,550 to 1,177.

In the Akron suburb of Cuyahoga Falls, residents apparently have elected the first Democratic mayor in 25 years. Unofficial totals gave the race to Democrat Quirk over Republican incumbent William Coleman.

Coleman, who apparently lost by only 78 votes of the nearly 16,000 cast, said he won't decide on a recount until he sees official totals.

Summit County voters repealed the county's seven-month-old one half per cent piggy back sales tax by a 13,000 vote margin. County officials had warned that repeal of the tax would cause a severe set back and plans for a long term improvement program.

Four school districts in the Findlay area approved school mill levies. Findlay voters approved a 9.6 mill levy, Liberty Benton approved a five mill operating levy and two mill school improvements levy, Arlington approved a 2.8 mill levy and McComb voters passed a 2.7 mill levy.

The Norwalk school renewal levy passed 2,222 to 1,053.

In the fifth try since 1965, a 3.4 mill levy for the Tri-Rivers Vocational School District was approved by 12,057 to 11,055. The district serves Marion, Marrow and part of Union counties.

Perrysburg voters turned down a $2.5 million bond issue 1,972 to 2,039, while the bbowling Green City School District approved two levies and rejected a third. Voters there approved a one mill levy for current expense and a two mill levy for building maintenance, but turned down a two mill levy to give teachers a cost-of-living salary increase.

In Hamilton County, voters approved a half mill levy to raise $2.5 million to purchase land for additional parks. The vote was 134,032 to 89,607.

Slim Margins Decide Many Issues

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One vote margins and city council reverses stood out Tuesday as Ohio voters registered their choices in local political races and bond issues.

In Western Reserve, voters defeated a bond issue for school construction improvements by a slim one vote margin—485 to 486.

But the Berlin-Milan school district passed an additional tax levy by two votes, 780 to 778.

County boards of education in both Erie and Huron counties said they had asked for recounts.

In Findlay, Democrats traded places with Republicans in party strength on the city council. Democrats had held seven of the nine seats, but saw the Republicans win seven of the nine Tuesday.

Suburban Mount Healthy voters, after seeking delays for nearly 10 years, voted to let Hamilton County build a two mile link to the long planned Cross County Highway.

The highway runs through the southern edge of the city of 22,000. The vote was 1,550 to 1,177.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT EARL FULLEN JR.

Church Of The Brethren Setting For Marriage Vows

The altar of the Church of the Brethren in Circleville was decorated with vases of white gladiolus and mums flanked with palms for the wedding of Miss Bonnie Sue Boyer and Mr. Robert Earl Fullen Jr. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

The Rev. Clyde Albaugh of Sidney performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boyer, 650 E. Ohio St., Circleville and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fullen Sr., Route 2, Williamsport.

Preceding the 2:30 p.m. Sept. 15th ceremony, Mrs. Doyle Cupp, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. For her wedding she selected a white satin formal length gown with a chapel length train. Lace and tiny pearl buttons trimmed the front of the gown from the high neckline to the hem. Matching lace trimmed the long puffed sleeves and the bride's bouffant veil, made by the bridegroom's mother, was caught to a pillbox covered with lace and pearl outlined roses. She carried a colonial bouquet of roses, daisies and baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a diamond and pearl necklace, a gift of the groom.

Miss Diane Eitel was maid of honor in a formal length eyelid gown of beige with long sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers with velvet streamers.

Miss Barbara Boyer was bridesmaid for her sister. She wore a formal length, long sleeved, white dotted swiss dress with a small flower print. Her bouquet was identical to that of the honor attendant.

Flower girl was Miss Melissa Sword, a niece of the groom. She wore a gown identical to that of the bridesmaid and carried a basket of white flower petals.

Master James (Buddy) Sword, nephew of the groom, carried a white satin and lace covered pillow holding the wedding rings to the altar.

Mr. Howard Draize served as best man for his friend. Ushers were Mr. David Boyer, brother of the bride and Mr. Donald Cook, uncle of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a street length, long sleeved, mint green, double knit dress and a pearl necklace. The bridegroom's mother chose a street length, long sleeved, light blue double knit dress. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception in the church basement followed the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with a centerpiece of bronze mums and daisies centered with a miniature doll dressed as the bride.

A three tiered wedding cake enhanced with pink, orange and yellow roses, white doves and hearts, was topped with bride and groom figures. Flanking the cake were candles completing the setting for the reception table.

The gift table was decorated with miniature dolls dressed as the bridal party, made by the groom's mother. Hostesses were Mrs. Jay Joslyn, a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Kathryn Lutz and Mrs. Donald Cook, aunts of the bride.

As the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a navy blue double knit street length dress with matching accessories. The couple now resides at 22 Detroit Ave. in Circleville.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by G. C. Murphy Co. The bridegroom, attended Circleville High School and is employed by U.S.S. Chemicals.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Reynoldsburg, Williamsport, Ashland, Sidney and New Holland, Ohio, and Kentucky.

Need more space for electric and other kitchen appliances and utensils? Base-end shelves may be added to kitchen room-divider cabinets.

The bride's mother wore a street length, long sleeved, mint green, double knit dress and a pearl necklace. The bridegroom's mother chose a street length, long sleeved, light blue double knit dress. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception in the church basement followed the ceremony. The bride's table was decorated with a centerpiece of bronze mums and daisies centered with a miniature doll dressed as the bride.

A three tiered wedding cake enhanced with pink, orange and yellow roses, white doves and hearts, was topped with bride and groom figures. Flanking the cake were candles completing the setting for the reception table.

The gift table was decorated with miniature dolls dressed as the bridal party, made by the groom's mother. Hostesses were Mrs. Jay Joslyn, a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Kathryn Lutz and Mrs. Donald Cook, aunts of the bride.

As the couple left for a wedding trip the bride wore a navy blue double knit street length dress with matching accessories. The couple now resides at 22 Detroit Ave. in Circleville.

The bride, a 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, is employed by G. C. Murphy Co. The bridegroom, attended Circleville High School and is employed by U.S.S. Chemicals.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Reynoldsburg, Williamsport, Ashland, Sidney and New Holland, Ohio, and Kentucky.

State Medical Schools Dispersed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unlike some other states, Ohio has escaped internal competition over where to locate its new medical schools.

"Everyone who has asked for a medical school got one," said William B. Coulter, vice chancellor for administration of the Ohio Board of Regents.

He pointed out that with the addition of the Wright State and Northeast Ohio Medical College—both recently created by the legislature—the state will have six medical schools. The combined enrollment of the existing four is about 2,300, and they have entering classes totaling about 700 a year, Coulter said.

The regents' official said Ohio has more medical schools, more widely dispersed, than most other states. He attributed that fact to the state's many large cities—eight with more than 100,000 population.

The two new schools expand the network even further, since each will be a consortium to serve three universities.

Wright State at Dayton also will serve Central State and Miami universities.

The northeast school will serve the University of Akron along with Kent State and Youngstown State universities.

Legislation creating the schools was politically popular in the General Assembly, Coulter said, "because it was stated that they would stress family practice, the greatest area of need in the medical profession."

The existing schools—the University of Cincinnati, Ohio State University, Case Western Reserve of Cleveland, and the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo—more or less lean toward specialty, the trend of the profession in recent years.

Dr. Robert Conley of Wright State said "we have a community-based medical school, and we are designing it so the community will participate and benefit."

He said that with the opportunity to start with the establishment of departmental units, it will be possible to structure in the emphasis on family practice.

Wright State or the Northeast Ohio College could get the benefit of a new Veterans Administration program to help establish eight new medical schools across the country.

Federal legislation still being implemented authorizes the VA to pay 90 per cent of faculty salaries at the eight schools for the first three years of a seven-year program, and 50 per cent during the remaining four. The new Ohio schools probably won't get their first students until about two years.

Conley said Wright State is "very much interested. We've watched the legislation from the beginning, but we want to see what the regulations and criteria are." He said these are being considered by the U.S. Office of Budget Management.

Senior Bowlers Hold Banquet

The men who bowled as a Senior Center team in the summer Monday night bowling league at Circle D Lanes, held a belated supper Monday.

Host for the affair was Ernie Weller, who prepared and served the meal in his home at 335 Watt Street.

After supper activities were playing cards and discussions of subjects of current interest to the men.

Those present were: Doctor Walter Heine, Mark DeLong, Dutch Stocklen, John Neff, John Miranda, Lester Wolford, Paul Gentzel, Mert Lorentz and the host, Ernie Weller. The only one absent was John Dietrich who was out of town.

Housing Allowance Program Said Having Ups And Downs

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The federal government's six-month-old housing allowance experiment to help upgrade housing for the poor is having its ups and downs, according to a survey by the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development is conducting a five-year program to improve housing for the poor and monthly rent allowances are a major part of the program.

In Jacksonville, Fla., the program is having problems because of a tight housing market. However, in Salem, Ore., the program is operating without any difficulty.

The Plain Dealer also spoke with officials in Peoria, Ill.; Durham, N.C., and Springfield, Mass.

More than 750 families are receiving funds from the federal government's $168 million housing allowance experiment.

Those interviewed cautioned that conclusions about the five-year plan were premature, but said:

—In a tight market allowances have been unable to give the poor enough of an edge to get into better housing.

—In some cities, even with housing allowances, the poor are unable to move into the suburbs where most housing is too expensive.

—Some landlords are refusing to participate in the program apparently because of what they feel are restrictive provisions in leases required by the federal government.

—In many instances landlords were willing to make some repairs to participate in the experiment, but no city reported property owners making major improvements.

—There was no indication that housing allowances acted as a catalyst and forced rent increases.

—Most of those interviewed said housing allowances were the best program yet devised to house the nation's poor.

In a message to Congress Sept. 19, President Nixon proposed replacing many of the government's housing programs with housing allowances.

8 The Circleville Herald, Thursday November 8, 1973
Harrisburg Seats Vacant

HARRISBURG, Ohio (AP) — Harrisburg Mayor Delbert Johnson says he probably will have to fill four vacant village council seats by appointment because nobody was elected to the posts in Tuesday's election.

The appointment plan is tentative, pending advice from the county prosecutor, Johnson said.

The problem was created by a new state law that requires write-in candidates to file as candidates before an election.

Traditionally, this tiny village south of Columbus has had write-in elections for councilmen.

Johnson said the system had its advantages, one being that voters in the village of 400 had to know the candidates' names, not just recognize them.

This year, as usual, no one filed as a candidate. But, unexpectedly, no one filed as a write-in either. The result was that no one was elected.

Harrisburg Seats Vacant

HARRISBURG, Ohio (AP) — Harrisburg Mayor Delbert Johnson says he probably will have to fill four vacant village council seats by appointment because nobody was elected to the posts in Tuesday's election.

The appointment plan is tentative, pending advice from the county prosecutor, Johnson said.

The problem was created by a new state law that requires write-in candidates to file as candidates before an election.

Traditionally, this tiny village south of Columbus has had write-in elections for councilmen.

Johnson said the system had its advantages, one being that voters in the village of 400 had to know the candidates' names, not just recognize them.

This year, as usual, no one filed as a candidate. But, unexpectedly, no one filed as a write-in either. The result was that no one was elected.

Net Farm Income Estimate To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department will issue a new estimate on Friday of 1973 net farm income — and there is evidence it could top the currently estimated $24 billion.

Two developments this week point to a possible boost in the income estimate.

Farm exports, which have an important bearing on producer income, were predicted Tuesday to reach a record high of $19 billion for the fiscal year ending next June 30, up nearly 50 per cent from 1972-73.

The export estimate, although hinted for some weeks earlier, is much higher than many USDA experts believed possible.

Another hint was in a speech by Don Paarlberg, the department's director of economics, who told a crop production conference in Minneapolis Tuesday night that 1973 net farm income will be "in the range of $24 billion to $26 billion."

The department's Outlook and Situation Board will issue Friday a summary of a "Demand and Price situation" report telling the latest official estimate of 1973 net farm income and how various commodity prices are shaping up going into next year.

Paarlberg, in his speech, also indicated some of the department's thinking about 1974 and predicted it would likely be "the third good year in a row, albeit not as good as 1973."

The export situation not only has been a major factor in boosting farm income but has raised prospects of wiping out U.S. trade deficits entirely for the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Compared with $19 billion worth of farm products expected for export this year, agricultural imports are estimated at only $8.9 billion. The difference means a surplus of about $10 billion.

Thus, according to USDA, the $10 billion advantage in farm exports

Glaucoma Screening Set Sunday

The Pickaway County Senior Citizens have scheduled a glaucoma screening program 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Lutheran Parish House 149 E. Mound St.

The free painless glaucoma screening test is important for all persons 35 years of age and for persons of any age with a history of glaucoma in their families.

Glaucoma is a leading cause of blindness among adults in the United States. One of every eight blind people is a victim. Practically all of them had normal sight most of their lives.

Glaucoma rarely strikes until the victim has reached 35 years of age. Signs and symptoms of glaucoma are: frequent changes of glasses, inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms, loss of side vision, blurred or foggy vision, rainbow colored rings around lights, difficulty in focusing on close work.

If glaucoma is discovered early, medical treatment can halt its progress. However, sight destroyed by glaucoma cannot be restored.

Meet The Mustangs

Howard Rowland 72, Bob Haller 43 and Miles Henson 73 are members of the 1973 Westfall High School football team. Howard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rowland, Route 1, Orient. Bob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haller, Williamsport. Miles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Henson, Williamsport.

Stingy Grid Teams Face Tough Foe

NEW YORK (AP) — Notre Dame, Penn State and Miami of Ohio, the top defensive teams in the nation, test their stinginess against offensive-minded opponents this weekend.

The 7-0 Irish lead in total defense, allowing the opposition only 163.6 yards per game and only four touchdowns in 423 plays, according to National Collegiate Sports Services statistics released Wednesday. Notre Dame faces Pittsburgh and Pitts' No. 4 rusher Tony Dorsett alone has contributed an average of 142.4 yards per game to the team's total average effort of 346 yards per game.

Miami of Ohio, 8-0 and going for its first perfect season since 1955, has held opponents to 183.3 yards. But Kent State, 7-1 going into Saturday's game with Miami, has an average of 389.6 yards per game.

Penn State, an 8-0 team that is No. 3 in total defense and No. 1 in rushing defense, puts its 186.0 average per game against 6-2 North Carolina State which has gained more than 400 yards per game, more than 260 of them on the ground.

Penn State, meanwhile, has held opponents to only 45.8 rushing yards per game. Notre Dame's defense has given up an average of only 58 and Michigan, third in rushing defense, has allowed only 75.8.

Circleville, 4-5, will wrap up the 1973 football season Friday night when the Tigers travel to Hamilton Twp. to meet the Rangers.

"We are approaching this contest as the biggest game of the season," Circleville coach Larry Cook stated.

"We can close the year on a winning note, allowing the seniors to bow out as winners and providing momentum to the boys who will be returning next year. Our kids suffered some heart-breaking losses early in the season but showed what they are made of by coming back strong and winning two of their last three games," Cook commented.

"These kids are winners and certainly have developed pride and character," Cook said.

This has been proven by the fact that 43 gridders turned out when the Tigers started full training and all 43 are still members of the squad.

Hamilton Twp. has a 4-4-1 record on the season and finished Metropolitan League play with a mark of 2-4-1.

The starting offensive unit for the Rangers will be: Motika, 155-pound, and Prince, 150-pound, ends; Collins, 202-pound, and Adkins, 220-pound, tackles; Dysinger, 162-pound, and Adkins, 180-pound, guards; Orr, 140-pound, center; Tope, 180-pound, quarterback; Logsdon, 200-pound, fullback; Shelton, 161-pound, flanker; Michael, 143-pound, halfback.

Circleville coaches named Jeff See and Eddy Richter as offensive Tigers of the week for their work in the Hillsboro game. See was selected for his consistent offensive blocking and Richter for his hard running and fine blocking.

The entire defensive unit was singled out for a fine overall performance and achieving their first shutout of the season.

Jim Payne suffered a knee injury in the Hillsboro game and will not see action for the Tigers Friday night.

On defense it will be: Jim Cordle, middle guard; Tim Hartinger, left

end; Richter, Tiger man; Alan Underwood, 5-yard halfback; Hoskins, middle safety; Brent Mancini, strong safety.

Computer Ratings Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Massillon and Steubenville Catholic, 7-2 against a schedule that includes a lot of Class AAA competition, surged in front in Class AA Region 7. The Steubenville team has 360.81 points to 346.41 for No. 2 Ironton, the leader a week ago.

Otherwise, the leaders remained the same with one game left for most Ohio teams. The final computer ratings and the state semifinals will be announced Sunday.

The other Class AAA leaders are Warren Western Reserve, Bowling Green and Cincinnati Moeller and the Class AA pacesetters are Cleveland Benedictine, Lima Catholic and Cincinnati Reading.

In Class A, No. 1 in each region are McDonald, Montpelier, Newark Catholic and Middletown Fenwick.

tumbled to third place.

Steubenville Catholic, 7-2 against a schedule that includes a lot of Class AAA competition, surged in front in Class AA Region 7. The Steubenville team has 360.81 points to 346.41 for No. 2 Ironton, the leader a week ago.

Otherwise, the leaders remained the same with one game left for most Ohio teams. The final computer ratings and the state semifinals will be announced Sunday.

The other Class AAA leaders are Warren Western Reserve, Bowling Green and Cincinnati Moeller and the Class AA pacesetters are Cleveland Benedictine, Lima Catholic and Cincinnati Reading.

In Class A, No. 1 in each region are McDonald, Montpelier, Newark Catholic and Middletown Fenwick.

Computer Ratings Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Massillon and Steubenville Catholic, two longtime feared names in Ohio high school football, have joined the ranks of the computerized regional leaders this week.

Each regional pacesetter automatically qualifies for the state playoffs beginning with the semifinals Friday night, Nov. 16. The state finals are the following Friday.

Massillon, with eight victories and a tie in nine games, took over the lead in Class AAA Region 3 with 533.47 points to 481.10 points for runnerup Cuyahoga Falls Walsh.

Akron Garfield, the Region 3 front-runner last fall, lost to Akron Ellet and tumbled to third place.

Steubenville Catholic, 7-2 against a schedule that includes a lot of Class AAA competition, surged in front in Class AA Region 7. The Steubenville team has 360.81 points to 346.41 for No. 2 Ironton, the leader a week ago.

Oklahoma Given Nod By Forecaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Courtesy of Kansas State's Vince Gibson, we bring you in advance the winner of Saturday's key Big Eight Conference clash between Oklahoma and Missouri.

"Oklahoma is a better football team than Missouri, but Missouri will play them close," Gibson said following a 31-7 loss to Missouri last week. The previous week, Gibson lost to Oklahoma 56-14.

The experts thought Nebraska would be leading the Big Eight by now, but there is Oklahoma with a 3-0 record (6-0-1 over-all) to Missouri's 3-1, 7-1. Coach Barry Switzer says the Sooners would be "in a great position to win the conference championship" by beating Missouri on the road. But he also says it won't be easy.

This corner goes along with Gibson...except for the part about it being close. Oklahoma 31-14.

Last week's mark was 42 right and 17 wrong with four ties for .712, including picking the exact score of Pitt's 28-14 victory over Syracuse. For the season, the count is 382-134-14 — .740.

Michigan State at Ohio State: Woody Hayes is wild about his defense but is concerned about offensive errors in last week's 30-0 triumph over Illinois. "Our offense did not have a good ballgame. We made mistakes, especially in the first half, that a good, veteran team like ours shouldn't." Ohio State was unbeaten last year, too, coming into this game and lost 19-12. Hayes has a good memory. Ohio State 28-6.

Illinois at Michigan: After the Ohio State game, Illinois' Bob Blackman said he has ranked Ohio State and Michigan "No. 1 and No. 2 all season long and I didn't see a thing out there to make me change my mind." The Wolverines may help him see the light. Michigan 27-7.

Notre Dame at Pitt: Pitt hasn't had a winning season since 1963, but the Panthers now are in the Top Twenty with a 5-2-1 record. So long, it's been good to know ya. Notre Dame 35-14.

North Carolina State at Penn State: The experts predicted N.C. State would lose to Nebraska, Georgia and Penn State. They've already lost to Nebraska and Georgia. Penn State 45-21.

Crippled Driver Wins 2 Races At Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP)— Driver Elmer Conrad, 70 years old and unslowed by a cast on one of the two legs he broke racing this summer, won the last two races at Latonia Race Course Wednesday night.

Shedding his crutches for the race, Conrad piloted Craig Dream to victory in the featured conditioned pace. The winner won by 4½ lengths in 2:03 4-5. The victory returned $9.80, $4.20 and $4.60.

Milwaukee Bucks Top Lakers, 109-92

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Meet the Los Angeles Lakers' "New Faces of 1973."

"We're having trouble because we're reconstructing our team," said Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman after his club suffered a 109-92 National Basketball Association loss to the Milwaukee Bucks Wednesday night.

Among the new faces this year are center Elmore Smith and forward Connie Hawkins. This new guard has replaced the old guard that included Wilt Chamberlain, Jim McMillian and Keith Erickson.

"You can't replace people like Wilt, McMillian and Erickson and be a winner again overnight," said Sharman, whose team was in the NBA final playoffs last season. "We're in a learning process. I don't think there has been a championship team in this league that hasn't played together for several years."

In the other NBA games Wednesday night, it was Philadelphia 122, Phoenix 115; Capital 111, Houston 97 and Seattle 130, Buffalo 113.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 14 of his 22 points in the first quarter to help the Bucks beat the Lakers for their 10th straight victory.

76ers 122, Suns 115

Fred Carter, Tom Van Arsdale and Steve Mix provided the offensive spark as Philadelphia turned back Phoenix 122-115. Carter topped the winners with 32 points while Van Arsdale had 29 and Mix 20.

Bullets 111, Rockets 97

Mike Riordan scored 15 points in the third quarter, rallying Capital to a 111-97 decision over Houston.

SuperSonics 130, Braves 113

Spencer Haywood connected for 26 points and Dick Snyder added 20 to lead Seattle to a 130-113 victory over Buffalo. It was the Braves' fourth straight defeat.

World Championship Golf Tilt Minus Top Players

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Arnold Palmer's here. And Gary Player. And Bruce Crampton and Masters champ Tommy Aaron and the Young Lions Lanny Wadkins and Ben Crenshaw and tough old Sam Snead.

National champions from some 20 countries around the globe are on hand to make a run at one-half million dollars in prize money, the richest golf tournament the world has ever known.

But the brand-new World Open, which offers $100,000 to the winner of the two-week tournament that began its inaugural run today, is in a slightly embarrassing position.

The winner will be billed as the World Champion.

But he'll get that title without the necessity of defeating perhaps the three top players alive today — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino. U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller also is on the sidelines, suffering from influenza.

The absence of those four — collectively, they've won the U.S., British and Canadian Opens, the PGA, 12 other titles and more than $1 million in prize money this year — has taken some of the gloss and glitter off the event that admittedly is looking for a place alongside the game's Big Four championships. It's sort of like having a Super Bowl in which the American Football Conference champion doesn't appear. Or a World Series without a National League representative.

Even with the absence of some of the game's top players and the lack of national television coverage — Hughes Sports Network cancelled out some time ago — the tournament has drawn an extremely impressive field.

Among the top Americans are such veterans as Palmer, Billy Casper and Gene Littler, youthful standouts Lanny Wadkins and Ben Crenshaw and the incredible Snead, still dangerous at the age of 61.

The foreign threat is very strong and it's among the non-Americans that the likely favorite rests. That role probably would go to either Player or the sturdy Crampton.

Bump, Run Defenses Under Fire

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals said Wednesday that National Football League receivers are being faced with virtual "fist fights" to get downfield and predicted the bump-and-run defenses will get a long post-season look by rulemakers.

"It's getting to be almost like a fist fight to fight your way downfield," said Brown.

"If you can't get men downfield you're losing one of the trademarks of pro football. What the zone defenses don't do, the bump-and-run makes up for," he said.

Brown called for special drills Wednesday to emphasize to his receivers what must be done to combat the problem posed by defensive backs who are attacking would-be passing targets once the ball is hiked.

"Everybody's got a little different idea of what must be done, and I think you'll see something done before next year," Brown said.

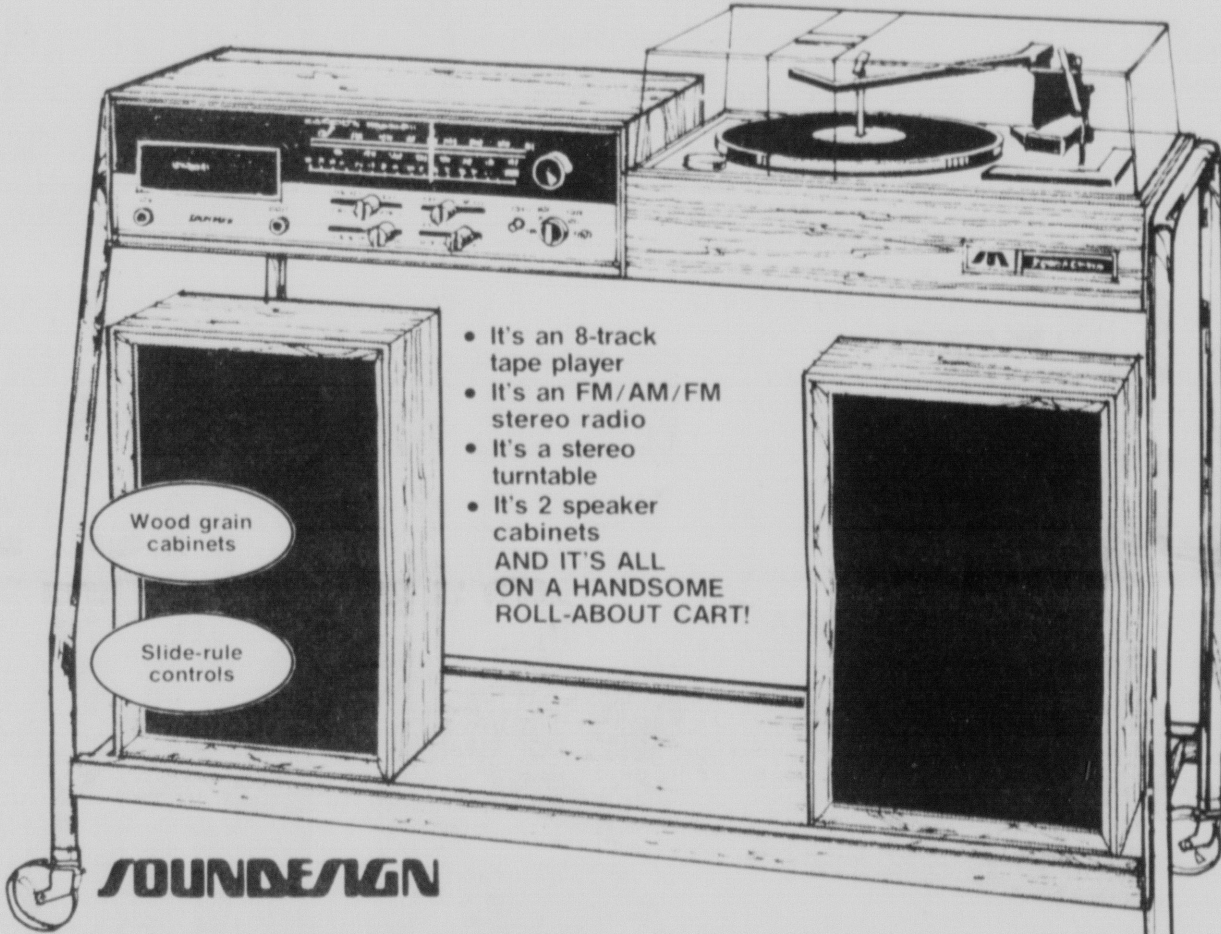

Statistics bear out the decline in completions to primary receivers. The top three receivers in the American Football Conference are running backs, often used as last resorts when downfield targets are covered.

The Bengals suffered a jolt at practice Wednesday when defensive standouts Mike Reid and Tommy Casanova suffered injuries.

Reid apparently reagravated a nagging back injury while working in the weightroom. Casanova pulled a hamstring.

The extent of their injuries wasn't to be determined until today.

Oklahoma Given Nod By Forecaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Courtesy of Kansas State's Vince Gibson, we bring you in advance the winner of Saturday's key Big Eight Conference clash between Oklahoma and Missouri.

"Oklahoma is a better football team than Missouri, but Missouri will play them close," Gibson said following a 31-7 loss to Missouri last week. The previous week, Gibson lost to Oklahoma 56-14.

The experts thought Nebraska would be leading the Big Eight by now, but there is Oklahoma with a 3-0 record (6-0-1 over-all) to Missouri's 3-1, 7-1. Coach Barry Switzer says the Sooners would be "in a great position to win the conference championship" by beating Missouri on the road. But he also says it won't be easy.

This corner goes along with Gibson...except for the part about it being close. Oklahoma 31-14.

Last week's mark was 42 right and 17 wrong with four ties for .712, including picking the exact score of Pitt's 28-14 victory over Syracuse. For the season, the count is 382-134-14 — .740.

Michigan State at Ohio State: Woody Hayes is wild about his defense but is concerned about offensive errors in last week's 30-0 triumph over Illinois. "Our offense did not have a good ballgame. We made mistakes, especially in the first half, that a good, veteran team like ours shouldn't." Ohio State was unbeaten last year, too, coming into this game and lost 19-12. Hayes has a good memory. Ohio State 28-6.

Illinois at Michigan: After the Ohio State game, Illinois' Bob Blackman said he has ranked Ohio State and Michigan "No. 1 and No. 2 all season long and I didn't see a thing out there to make me change my mind." The Wolverines may help him see the light. Michigan 27-7.

Notre Dame at Pitt: Pitt hasn't had a winning season since 1963, but the Panthers now are in the Top Twenty with a 5-2-1 record. So long, it's been good to know ya. Notre Dame 35-14.

North Carolina State at Penn State: The experts predicted N.C. State would lose to Nebraska, Georgia and Penn State. They've already lost to Nebraska and Georgia. Penn State 45-21.

Stanford at Southern California: This one has been billed as the Blood Bowl ever since USC's John McKay said he wanted to beat Stanford by 2-000 points following last year's 30-21 triumph. Cardinals are coming with three in a row and it could be an aerial duel between Pat Haden and Mike Boryla. Southern Cal 34-17.

UCLA at Oregon: Ducks got caught looking ahead by Washington State. Bruins haven't stumbled in seven games since the Nebraska debacle. UCLA 31-21.

Iowa State at Nebraska: Coach Tom Osborne says Nebraska isn't going to romp despite ISU's 2-5 record. "They tied us last year and they should have won but they missed the last extra point. And they have virtually the same team back." Nebraska 34-10.

Texas Tech at Texas Christian: After losing this game the last two years, Jim Carlen of 71 Tech says the only bowl he's concerned with is "The TCU Bowl." Texas Tech 28-14.

Baylor at Texas: Baylor has lost three in a row by six points each. Enough of that. Texas 49-20.

Wyoming at Arizona State: Sun Devils after double revenge. They lost to Wyoming last year and to Utah last week. Arizona State 56-14.

Houston at Colorado State: One loss is Houston's limit. Houston 45-14.

Miami, Ohio at Kent State: This one's for the Mid-American Conference title and it could be the best game of the day. Both are undefeated in MAC play. Miami's 8-0 over-all, Kent is 7-1, losing only to San Diego State. How's a 20-20 tie grab you?

Synthetic Gas Made Necessity

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Columbia Gas System officials say they will have to rely on synthetically produced gas if they are to meet industrial commitments.

The comment came during testimony before the West Virginia Public Service Commission Wednesday on a request by Columbia to increase rates to its industrial customers.

Columbia's main gas supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., has estimated its annual deficiencies will range from 84 billion cubic feet of gas in 1973-74 to 316 billion cubic feet in 1977-78 if it relies only on supplies from Louisiana and Southwest pipelines.

The transmission corporation supplies gas to more than 75 affiliated companies in seven states, including West Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Columbia Gas representatives told the PSC they plan to alleviate any deficiencies in gas to its West Virginia customers by using other sources such as synthetic gas from a refining plant under construction near Green Springs, Ohio, a plant to be located near Marcus Hook, Pa., and another to be located near Baltimore as well as a liquified natural gas facility at Cove Point, Md.

Paul R. Bigley, vice president and chief engineer for the utility, said use of synthetic gas will allow Columbia to keep its deficiencies to four per cent this year instead of the previously anticipated 7.7 per cent.

Sy Orlofsky, president and director of Columbia LGN Corp., of Wilmington, Del., blamed the Federal Power Commission for the energy crisis. wellhead prices was a major cause of the current shortage. "Natural gas has been artificially priced by the FPC at a value below its true market value," he said and as a result it has inhibited the exploration and drilling activities required to find new supplies of gas.

Sewer Overflow Into Lake Eyed

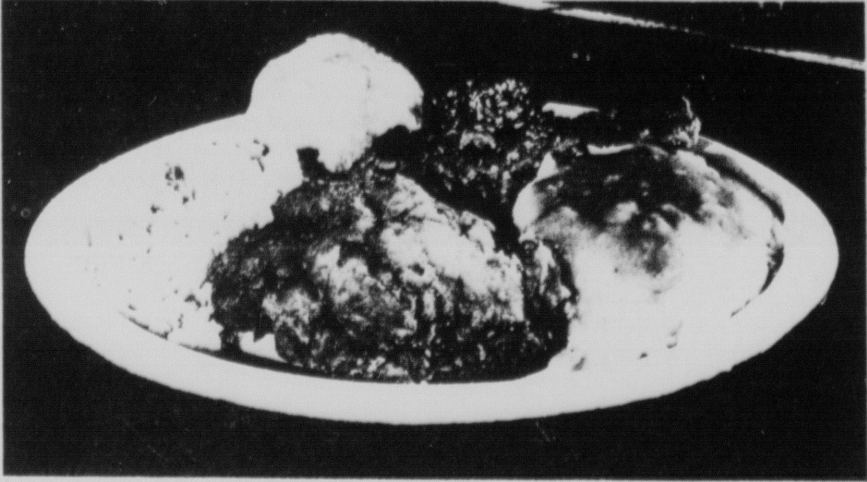

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eliminating sanitary sewer overflows into Lake Erie will be this year's goal for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency strike force, Gov. John J. Gilligan said Wednesday.

The strike force will assist communities along the lake to separate sanitary and storm sewers to wipe out the problem, Gilligan said.

The governor said a three-year study by two state agencies showed that lake water quality deteriorated during unusually wet weather last May and June. Storm water overloaded the sewer system, making proper treatment impossible, he said.

Georgia Dick, Mrs. Marie Hott, Mrs. Laura Henry, Mrs. Patsy Drummond, Miss Laura Long and Mrs. Carolyn Sheets were guests of Mrs. John Drummond and son Nathan.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Caplinger of Washington C. H. were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond and son Nathan.

Synthetic Gas Made Necessity

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Columbia Gas System officials say they will have to rely on synthetically produced gas if they are to meet industrial commitments.

The comment came during testimony before the West Virginia Public Service Commission Wednesday on a request by Columbia to increase rates to its industrial customers.

Columbia's main gas supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., has estimated its annual deficiencies will range from 84 billion cubic feet of gas in 1973-74 to 316 billion cubic feet in 1977-78 if it relies only on supplies from Louisiana and Southwest pipelines.

The transmission corporation supplies gas to more than 75 affiliated companies in seven states, including West Virginia, Kentucky, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Columbia Gas representatives told the PSC they plan to alleviate any deficiencies in gas to its West Virginia customers by using other sources such as synthetic gas from a refining plant under construction near Green Springs, Ohio, a plant to be located near Marcus Hook, Pa., and another to be located near Baltimore as well as a liquefied natural gas facility at Cove Point, Md.

Paul R. Bigley, vice president and chief engineer for the utility, said use of synthetic gas will allow Columbia to keep its deficiencies to four per cent this year instead of the previously anticipated 7.7 per cent.

Sy Orlofsky, president and director of Columbia LGN Corp., of Wilmington, Del., blamed the Federal Power Commission for the energy crisis. wellhead prices was a major cause of the current shortage. "Natural gas has been artificially priced by the FPC at a value below its true market value," he said and as a result it has inhibited the exploration and drilling activities required to find new supplies of gas.

Sewer Overflow Into Lake Eyed

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Eliminating sanitary sewer overflows into Lake Erie will be this year's goal for the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency strike force, Gov. John J. Gilligan said Wednesday.

The strike force will assist communities along the lake to separate sanitary and storm sewers to wipe out the problem, Gilligan said.

The governor said a three-year study by two state agencies showed that lake water quality deteriorated during unusually wet weather last May and June. Storm water overloaded the sewer system, making proper treatment impossible, he said.

Georgia Dick, Mrs. Marie Hott, Mrs. Laura Henry, Mrs. Patsy Drummond, Miss Laura Long and Mrs. Carolyn Sheets were guests of Mrs. John Drummond and son Nathan.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Caplinger of Washington C. H. were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Drummond and son Nathan.

Plane Crash Fatal To 2

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two men were killed Wednesday when a private plane developed engine trouble during a test flight and crashed while attempting to return to Port Columbus International Airport.

The single-engine craft crashed about 2,000 feet short of a runway after clipping some tree tops and losing both wings, officials said.

The dead were identified as Bruce Taylor Jr., 61, of suburban Groveport, the pilot and owner of the plane, and Roger Patke of Columbus, a mechanic for Dublin Aviation Corp.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the men had taken the plane out for a test flight and it developed engine trouble shortly after takeoff.

As they attempted to return to the airport, the plane apparently lost power and hit the trees. Both wings were knocked off and the plane was spun completely around. It crashed into the southwest bank of Big Walnut Creek and exploded into flames.

Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colder air will be moving into Ohio today and tonight for a stay of several days, with some snow flurries expected, the National Weather Service predicts.

The latest weather map shows a cold front from northern Lake Huron through lower Michigan to northwest Indiana. The front is being pushed southeast and will be well east and south of Ohio this evening. Showers are predicted for today, changing to snow flurries tonight as the cold air continues to push into Ohio.

Temperatures are expected to drop into the 20s tonight, and only make it back into the 30s Friday. Snow flurries are expected in all parts of the state except the extreme northwest tonight. Friday will find the snow flurries confined to the northeast counties, especially those near Lake Erie.

WEST CENTRAL CENTRAL SOUTHWEST

Cloudy and cold tonight with a chance of snow flurries. Lows 25 to 30. Friday partly cloudy and continued cold. Highs in the mid to upper 30s.

EAST CENTRAL SOUTHEAST

Cloudy and colder tonight and Friday with a chance of snow flurries. Lows tonight from the upper 20s to low 30s. Highs Friday in the low to mid 30s.

SERTOMA SPEAKER—George Hamrick (left) was the speaker noon Tuesday at Circleville Sertoma Club. He was introduced by program chairman Fred Reichart (right). Hamrick showed slides and described a recent visit to the Amish Community near Lancaster, Pa.

Hostages Escape,
Men Surrender

WADENA, Minn. (AP) — Two jail escapees surrendered today after their three hostages slipped away from them during the night, authorities said.
The two escapees, one an accused murderer, apparently fell asleep in the farmhouse where they had held Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wegscheid and their 15-year-old son hostage since Tuesday night, an FBI spokesman said.
There were no reports of any injuries. The two gunmen, who had threatened to resort to whatever means necessary to escape, had been holed up in the farmhouse for 36 hours. They released three other Wegscheid children Wednesday night.
The FBI spokesman said deputy sheriffs captured the two gunmen but gave no further details.
The two gunmen escaped from a Wadena jail Monday night after wounding a jailer with a gun.
John P. Morgan, who had been jailed on murder charges in a double slaying, told police earlier today he would resort to any means necessary to escape.
"If I have to, I'll tape a gun to Mr. Wegscheid's neck to assure that police don't try anything on the trip to the airport," Morgan, 37, said. "That way, if I'm shot, my reflex action will trigger the gun and my hostage will be killed, too."
The other gunman was William L. Winans, 18, who had been jailed on a burglary charge.

The fugitives had been negotiating with law enforcement officials on details of a plan to have them flown to freedom today in a Minnesota Highway Patrol plane.
A snowstorm thwarted the escapees' plans to flee by plane Wednesday. They had said they expected to fly out of Wadena today under conditions they had negotiated with authorities for the release of Mr. and Mrs. Wegscheid and their son, Ed.
Wadena, a town of less than 5,000 persons, is about 170 miles northwest of Minneapolis.
Carmichael Urges College Studies
BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Black activist Stokely Carmichael called on black students Wednesday night to make the most of their college studies so they can bring back their knowledge to the African people.
He told them that if they do not use their opportunity to learn, they are "betraying their people."
Carmichael, who headed the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in the mid 1960s, also urged the students to join other black people around the world to work for what he termed "scientific socialism."

Hostages Escape,
Men Surrender

WADENA, Minn. (AP) — Two jail escapees surrendered today after their three hostages slipped away from them during the night, authorities said.

The two escapees, one an accused murderer, apparently fell asleep in the farmhouse where they had held Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wegscheid and their 15-year-old son hostage since Tuesday night, an FBI spokesman said.

There were no reports of any injuries. The two gunmen, who had threatened to resort to whatever means necessary to escape, had been holed up in the farmhouse for 36 hours. They released three other Wegscheid children Wednesday night.

The FBI spokesman said deputy sheriffs captured the two gunmen but gave no further details.

The two gunmen escaped from a Wadena jail Monday night after wounding a jailer with a gun.

John P. Morgan, who had been jailed on murder charges in a double slaying, told police earlier today he would resort to any means necessary to escape.

"If I have to, I'll tape a gun to Mr. Wegscheid's neck to assure that police don't try anything on the trip to the airport," Morgan, 37, said. "That way, if I'm shot, my reflex action will trigger the gun and my hostage will be killed, too."

The other gunman was William L. Winans, 18, who had been jailed on a burglary charge.

The fugitives had been negotiating with law enforcement officials on details of a plan to have them flown to freedom today in a Minnesota Highway Patrol plane.

A snowstorm thwarted the escapees' plans to flee by plane Wednesday. They had said they expected to fly out of Wadena today under conditions they had negotiated with authorities for the release of Mr. and Mrs. Wegscheid and their son, Ed.

Wadena, a town of less than 5,000 persons, is about 170 miles northwest of Minneapolis.

Carmichael Urges College Studies

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Black activist Stokely Carmichael called on black students Wednesday night to make the most of their college studies so they can bring back their knowledge to the African people.

He told them that if they do not use their opportunity to learn, they are "betraying their people."

Carmichael, spoke on the Bowling Green State University campus.

Carmichael, who headed the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in the mid 1960s, also urged the students to join other black people around the world to work for what he termed "scientific socialism."

Talks Scheduled
Over Mogadore
Guard Walkout

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Akron City Council members and a group of striking city employees will meet today in an attempt to halt a walkout over whether Mogadore Reservoir guards should be armed.

There are only eight guards at the Mogadore Reservoir that are requesting to be armed, but at one time Wednesday they were joined by about 250 fellow city employees and blocked the entrance city's water department buildings.

Mayor John Ballard ordered police to the scene to clear the entrance to the buildings on Johnson Street.

Picketing continued throughout Wednesday and Ballard said he would not negotiate the dispute as long as the walkout continued.

Sneek-A-Peek
AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Reading aloud to children provides an experience a child will remember for a lifetime. Fairy tales provide the brave heroes and damsels needing rescue which stimulate the imagination and touch the heart. Maybe you have missed some of these.

From Russia, Guy Daniels has translated "The Peasant's Pea Patch". It is an uproarious tale of a peasant who feeds vodka to the hungry birds who have eaten his crops. His adventure takes him on a wild ride through the sky that will keep the reader wondering if he will ever get home. The superb illustrations are by Robert Quackenbush whose work can be seen in museums throughout the country.

Also from Russia, by Arthur Ransome, is "The Fool of the World and the Flying Ship", a Caldecott winner in 1969. Fool of the World is the name of a young peasant who tries to win the hand of the Czar's daughter. Naturally he is aided by various old men with magical powers who just happen to cross his path. There is much singing, picnicking and drinking of corn brandy before the young man reaches the end of his journey. And there are many delightful moments for the reader.

Mirra Ginsburg has assembled Russian folk tales that have never before appeared in English. Her book, "Three Rolls and One Doughnut" are stories that have been told to Russian children much as our Mother Goose stories. Some are only a half page long and would make nice bedtime reading.

African tales have been retold by Gail Halev in the 1971 Caldecott winner, "A Story - A Story". The flavor of the language and the peoples' life style has been captured for American children. Fierce leopards and stinging hornets make exciting reading in these stories told by the legendary "spider man".

From the Hebrew comes the legend of "Elijah the Slave translated by Isaac Singer. A slave sent from God saves a poor man's family from starvation for a price. Strikingly illustrated, this is a truly beautiful book.

And from the Greek comes "Three Gold Pieces" by Alik. Like many heroes, Yannis must travel the world over to earn enough to support his children. He has ten years of bad fortune, finally to be rewarded far beyond his expectations. The vivid colors used by Alik are like bright jewels to be looked at as well as read. Even proud princesses sometimes get their comeuppance as in "King Thrushbeard" by the brothers Grimm. A princess who ridicules every suitor as too fat, too thin, or too short, is finally banished to the lowly position of kitchen maid. Young girls will laugh at her predicament, but there is a lesson here to be taken to heart.

Take time to read to your children and enjoy yourself too.

Organized Crime Said
Most Serious

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The author of three major federal crime control measures said organized crime is the most serious form of law-breaking in the country, yet citizens are unconcerned.

G. Robert Blakey, professor of law at Cornell University, said organized crime influences our economic institutions, creates public corruption and causes 50 per cent of the street crimes — robberies to get money for narcotics.

"Yet our attitude towards organized crime is strangely ambivalent," he said. "A majority of our people probably do not believe that the Mafia exists. Others, particularly liberals, feels organized crime only services our moral failings."

He added, "Touched by corruption, many political leaders also minimize its significance."

Blakey, who wrote the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970, the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1970 and the Crime Control Act of 1973, addressed the Ohio Crime Prevention Conference in its third day. The conference ends Friday.

Earlier Wednesday, Herbert Edelhertz of the Battelle Human Affairs Research Center of Seattle said organized crime has entered legitimate business.

Even so, Edelhertz said, the Mob continues to operate in its traditional manner. "They don't change their spots," he added.

He said organized crime figures use stolen airline tickets to travel, stolen credit cards to have "business lunches," and equip their motels with stolen furnishings, like television sets.

Towmotor Corp. Faces
UAW Strike Deadline

MENTOR, Ohio (AP)—The United Auto Workers has set next Thursday as a strike deadline in the negotiations with the Towmotor Corp.

The deadline was given to the local firm in accordance with the national deadline set against the Caterpillar Tractor Co. Towmotor is a Caterpillar subsidiary.

The heaviest recorded human was Robert Hughes, of Illinois, who weighed 1,069 pounds at the age of 32.

Ashville News

MRS. JOHN SABINE, PHONE 983-2086

Members of the teenage class of the Ashville Church of Christ in Christian Union held a Halloween Party on Oct. 27 in the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Earl Chaney. Serving as Mrs. Chaney's assistant is Mrs. Jack Reynolds.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Venoy, Pam Brown, Chris Snyder, Bev Williamson, Bonnie Hall, Janet and Donna Hinton, Vickie Bowman, Carol Fout, Karen Reynolds, Rany Reynolds, Steve Graves, Mike Reed, Erlene and Sue Adkins and Chuck, Joe Spittler, Minday and Mike Chaney, Arlene, Darlene and Chris Voss, Penny Toole, Jim and Mona Linton, Barb Wells, Ron Timmons and Roxanne Rayburn.

A scavenger hunt was held during the evening and an initiation ceremony was conducted for the younger members of the class.

The members are planning a hike to be held at Tar Hollow in the near future.

The annual style show sponsored by the Ashville Women's Civic Club will be held at the Teays Valley High School on Monday at 8 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased from the members. Clothing will be shown by Sharff's, The Other Place and the Deb and Children's Shops, all of Circleville.

The members of the club will have pecans for sale at this event and during the holiday season.

Guests of Miss Doris Cook this past week were Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Sensenbrenner and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zeiher of Columbus, Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of Lockbourne, Mr. and Mrs. James Fry of Amanda, Mrs. Arthur Swingle, Miss Cleona Dunnick, Mrs. Jean Crites and Mr. Edward Crites all of Ashville.

Miss Cook is now residing in the Hartley Apartments in Ashville. She reports that Mrs. Sensenbrenner is now recovering from a heart attack.

The Senior Girl Scout Troop No. 940 will hold a bake sale at Toole's Electric on Nov. 17 starting at 9 a.m. At this time they would like to thank everyone who patronized them at their bake sale on Nov. 3.

A carry-in dinner was held recently at the Ashville Community Park Shelter House honoring several persons having birthdays. Those honored were Mr. Ed Runkle who was 92 years of age, Bill Carney of Ashville, Billy Wears of Obetz and Todd Anderson of Washington C. H.

Others there to help celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. John Blouse Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson and family, Mr. Harley Keifer, Mrs. Wanda Tailer, Mr. and Mrs. Norma Kingsley all from Washington C. H.; Mrs. Peggy Foreman and Miss Cathy Reed of West Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Conaway of Chillicothe;

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Conaway and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carney, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Foreman, Danny and Kimberly Foreman, Mr. Billy Foreman, Annette, and Jimmy all of Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foreman and children of Circleville; Mrs. Wilma Banks, Chucky and Lynn of Lockbourne; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Presler and Dwight of Amanda; Mrs. Janice Wissinger and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Metzler, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Canterbury and daughter all of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wears and Billy of Obetz;

Mr. and Mrs. Al Conaway of Indianapolis, Ind.

The afternoon was spent enjoying the entertainment of music and singing.

Mrs. George (Helen) Cummins returned to her home this week from Mercy Hospital in Columbus where she had undergone surgery.

Results of the Ashville Belles Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League for Nov. 6 were: high single game, Delores Messick 266; high three-game series, Delores Messick 596; high team game, Lovely Lady No. 1 688; high team series, Lovely Lady No. 1 1953.

There will be a free glaucoma test conducted Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Lutheran Parish House, 135 East Mound Street, Circleville. This test is for all persons over the age of 35. It is being sponsored by the Ohio Society for Prevention of Blindness, Pickaway Senior Center and Circleville eye doctors.

This is totally free of any charge whatsoever and everyone in the county is urged to attend. If you desire further information on the test please feel free to call 474-4916.

The Friendship Circle of the Zion United Methodist Church will host a bowling party at the Circle D Lanes in Circleville on Nov. 17 at 6:30 p.m. All members of the church and their guests are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kauber of Wadsworth spent several days this past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pontius. The Kaubers were former residents of Ashville when he was a basketball coach at Ashville High School. They moved to Wadsworth this past summer where their younger son is a funeral director.

On Sunday the Kaubers and Pontius attended church at the Circleville Lutheran Church where a college friend of Mr. Kauber, Pastor Zehner, is the minister. While there they also saw Fred Brobst who is the church choir director.

The Ashville Pythian Sisters met in the K. P. Hall Tuesday evening for the regular monthly meeting. Presiding during the meeting was the Most Excellent Chief Madge Baum.

A letter was read from Sterling Temple inviting the members to the district convention on Monday. The meeting will be held in the United Methodist Church in Mt. Sterling. The afternoon session will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the evening meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Serving as the delegate from the Ashville Temple will be Judy Campbell. A letter was read from the Springfield Planning Committee of the Pythian Home there. A monetary donation was sent for the Christmas Fund.

It was reported that Mildred Messick has been a patient in Grant Hospital and that Helen Cummins had undergone surgery in Mercy Hospital. The sisters will serve the annual Past Chancellors Dinner for the Knights on Dec. 12.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m. Serving on the social committee for the evening will be Pearl Fortner, Arlene Fortner, Elaine Winter and Carolyn Peters.

GRIDIRON GIRLS—Guards Delores and Carol Darin and halfback Kathy Tosland of Wishkah, Wash. high school, want to play with regular team.

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1973

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Proceed with caution to gain the advance you wish in practical matters. Don't argue. Take the time to get the advice of bankers, businessmen before acting.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) If you move or act too quickly, you may make big errors, but taking too much time to reach decisions could be just as bad. Be sensible.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't blame yourself since others could be at fault instead. Benefit by improving health. Avoid one who has an eye on your assets.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Keep promise you made, otherwise you get into trouble. Assist one who is having really rough sledding and forget own despondency.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't rely on a good friend who has problems, but work own angles. Out to that group affair, but don't lose your temper or your head.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Solve those problems connected with new outlets so they become successful. Handle civic matters efficiently. Save more money for the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study details and figures of some advanced plan you have and be sure they are exact. Make new associates who can be most helpful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use more modern methods in handling the routines that have been tedious in the past. Cement better relations with mate by doing what he or she likes to do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into all those details with an associate that will make some mutual outlet very profitable and put aside anything of a light nature.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to please co-workers more even though it takes longer, and have greater harmony. Take the exercise that will improve your health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Enjoy amusements you like and get away from present tensions of business. Reach better understanding with congenials. Avoid one with a bone to pick.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle home affairs so there is more harmony and health there. Show you're devoted. Get into details of some new project for greater success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Shop and do important errands; get in touch with those who can help you advance. Use much care in motion. Don't permit some silly person to mow you down.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has to learn early to be most careful where details are concerned for true success. Teach early to take pains with such even at play. Teach also to keep main goals in mind and not forget them in the mass of details. Make sure this child gets plenty of rest early in life to build a strong body. Care in diet is important.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Hart, a goodly number of kids, college students and general citizens know, draws the "B.C." comic strip, which is sort of a hipsters' "Flintstones."

Come Nov. 19, he'll have his first full-length cartoon feature on television, a half-hour effort on NBC called "B.C." The First Thanksgiving.

Most of it concerns a turkey who is uneasy at the idea of being dined on. Hart approaches interviews about the show approximately the same way the turkey contemplates the ax.

"I'm trying to get into the Guinness Book of Records as the worst interview of all time," he unhappily explained. Then he started laughing. "So you might as well prepare yourself."

Hart, a 41-year-old native of Endicott, N.Y., isn't a hostile witness. It's just that, well, a guy who draws ants that talk and anteaters that go "Zot!" as they dine is apt to be a bit strange upstairs.

In his defense, we'd point out that he's a great fan of the old "Roadrunner" cartoons, breaks up at the mention of Dudley Do-Right of the Royal Mounted Police and considers jazz trumpeter Jack Sheldon, a regular on the Merv Griffin show, one of the most naturally funny men of all time.

Hart, in short, is a normal cartoonist. His "B.C." strip has been nationally syndicated for nearly 13 years, but he's been a professional LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use more modern methods in handling the routines that have been tedious in the past. Cement better relations with mate by doing what he or she likes to do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into all those details with an associate that will make some mutual outlet very profitable and put aside anything of a light nature.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to please co-workers more even though it takes longer, and have greater harmony. Take the exercise that will improve your health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Enjoy amusements you like and get away from present tensions of business. Reach better understanding with congenials. Avoid one with a bone to pick.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle home affairs so there is more harmony and health there. Show you're devoted. Get into details of some new project for greater success.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Shop and do important errands; get in touch with those who can help you advance. Use much care in motion. Don't permit some silly person to mow you down.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has to learn early to be most careful where details are concerned for true success. Teach early to take pains with such even at play. Teach also to keep main goals in mind and not forget them in the mass of details. Make sure this child gets plenty of rest early in life to build a strong body. Care in diet is important.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Hart, a goodly number of kids, college students and general citizens know, draws the "B.C." cartoon strip, which is sort of a hipsters' "Flintstones."

Come Nov. 19, he'll have his first full-length cartoon feature on television, a half-hour effort on NBC called "B.C. The First Thanksgiving."

Most of it concerns a turkey who is uneasy at the idea of being dined on. Hart approaches interviews about the show approximately the same way the turkey contemplates the ax.

"I'm trying to get into the Guinness Book of Records as the worst interview of all time," he unhappily explained. Then he started laughing. "So you might as well prepare yourself."

Hart, a 41-year-old native of Endicott, N.Y., isn't a hostile witness. It's just that, well, a guy who draws ants that talk and anteaters that go "Zot!" as they dine is apt to be a bit strange upstairs.

In his defense, we'd point out that he's a great fan of the old "Roadrunner" cartoons, breaks up at the mention of Dudley Do-Right of the Royal Mounted Police and considers jazz trumpeter Jack Sheldon, a regular on the Merv Griffin show, one of the most naturally funny men of all time.

Hart, in short, is a normal cartoonist. His "B.C." strip has been nationally syndicated for nearly 13 years, but he's been a professional cartoonist since he was 19.

"I guess originally it was the only thing that I knew how to do," he said. "I started out just working nights and studying other people's drawings, then trying some of my own."

He continued drawing, even during a Korean war stint with the Air Force, but despite some success in magazines he didn't really hit until he happened to see Charles Schulz' "Peanuts" strip.

That prompted "B.C." and the rest is history. Now he wants to do more animated cartoons for television, but only on an irregular basis while continuing his strip.

"I don't like the idea of doing it for television every week, because you have to take so much away from it," he said, referring to time considerations that force reduction in cartoon detail.

"I'm of the old school. I like the full animation, like in the old days with the Warner Brothers stuff."

"But that's what I'd like to do," he said. "I think I have a talent for that. I think I have a good feel for sound, which you can't get on a page. I drive myself crazy trying to do it on a piece of paper, but, geez, it's difficult."

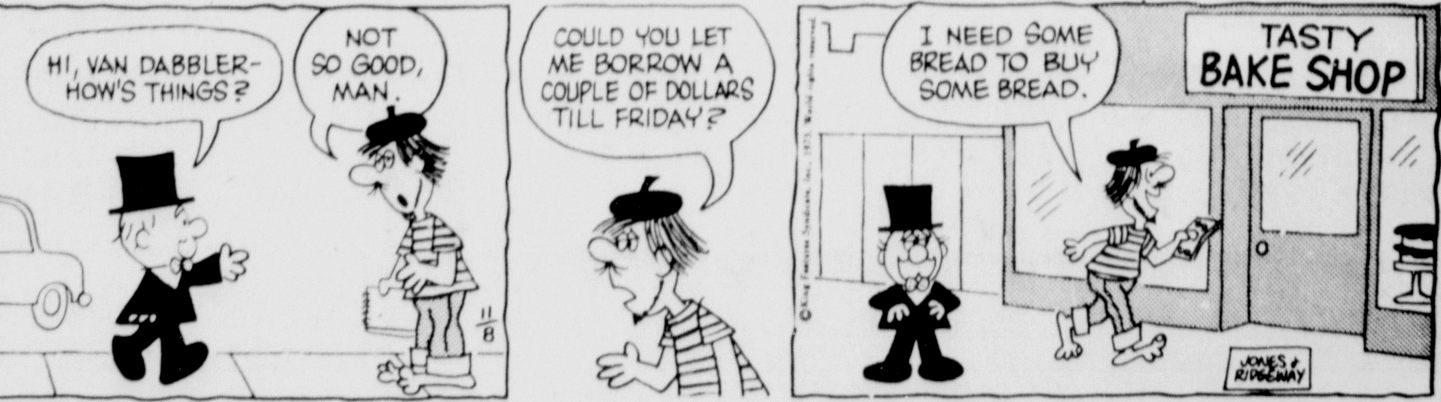

Unlike many successful cartoonists, Hart still draws his own strip, seven days a week, 365 days a year.

But Skylab program director William C. Schneider said, "We want to get well into the changeout before we make a definite decision. It's a reasonable bet we'll launch on the 15th, but it's certainly not a sure thing."

The Saturn IB rocket is to lift astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson toward a rendezvous with the Skylab space station, now orbiting unmanned 270 miles high. They are to remain aboard a record 85 days in man's third and final visit to the orbiting lab.

Turk Foresees Long-Time Fuel Crisis

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Public Utilities Commission Chairman Edmund J. Turk says it appears the energy crisis is "going to be with us a long time."

Turk said in an interview Wednesday night he thinks the fuel crisis is going to have one of the heaviest impacts on this country's economic and social life that has ever been seen.

"It will affect the health, welfare and monetary income of everybody that lives in America for the next three or four years," Turk said.

The PUCO chairman applauded President Nixon's strong statement on the energy crisis and suggested that the state government can help by keeping thermostats in state buildings at 68 degrees—and even lower than that on weekends—and by turning off the lights at the end of each work day.

Tesguino, a beer made from sprouted corn, is important to the Tarahumara people of northern Mexico. The shaman uses it when blessing people, animals, fields or the harvest. When someone needs a big job done, like weeding a field, he invites friends to drink the beverage; they do the work and receive tesguino in return.

State Fluoridation Law Faces Test

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The City of Cincinnati, caught between a state order and a court injunction, plans to carry out a mandate from the voters by testing Ohio's 1969 fluoridation law in the First District Court of Appeals.

The action, to be filed soon, will ask the court to rule on the constitutionality of the mandatory fluoridation statute.

Tuesday night, for the third time since 1953, Cincinnati's defeated a referendum on fluoridating city waters.

In 1971 a Hamilton County Court judge ruled the state fluoridation law invalid and enjoined the city from complying with it.

Last August the state Environmental Protection Agency ordered the city to fluoridate. Solicitor Thomas Luebbers then appealed to the state Environmental Board of Review, and lost. Luebbers had said prior to the Tuesday voting that if the referendum passed he'd appeal no further.

But it lost, 50,444-36,969.

Philip Olinger, assistant to Luebbers, said Wednesday he was working on a notice of appeal against the board of review's finding and would probably file it today.

Olinger said the contradictory orders of the state and the county court left the city "not knowing where to turn."

"If the referendum vote had been in favor of fluoridation we would not have been as much in need of testing the law," Olinger said Wednesday.

Atty. Harvey Immerman, whose complaint last summer prompted the state's fluoridation order here, said he believes the state appellate court will uphold the validity of the fluoridation law.

But J. Julian Bowman, president of the Citizen's Committee Against Fluoridation, said "the moment it gets into court it's laughable." He called fluoridation "the hoax of the century," and said his group will expand its efforts to other Ohio cities.

The anti-fluoridationists contend that sodium fluoride is a poison that has caused many deaths that are on record. They claim the scientific community has not adequately researched fluoridation.

And they say fluoridation violates the constitutional rights of people to decide what is taken into their bodies.

Olinger said that if the appellate court upholds the fluoridation law the City Council still will have to vote on whether to go along.

If they or the anti-fluoridationists decide to keep the fluoride battle going, it could go all the way to the Ohio Supreme Court, he said.

State Fluoridation Law Faces Test

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The City of Cincinnati, caught between a state order and a court injunction, plans to carry out a mandate from the voters by testing Ohio's 1969 fluoridation law in the First District Court of Appeals.

The action, to be filed soon, will ask the court to rule on the constitutionality of the mandatory fluoridation statute.

Tuesday night, for the third time since 1953, Cincinnatians defeated a referendum on fluoridating city waters.

In 1971 a Hamilton County Court judge ruled the state fluoridation law invalid and enjoined the city from complying with it.

Last August the state Environmental Protection Agency ordered the city to fluoridate. Solicitor Thomas Luebbers then appealed to the state Environmental Board of Review, and lost. Luebbers had said prior to the Tuesday voting that if the referendum passed he'd appeal no further.

But it lost, 50,444-36,969.

Philip Olinger, assistant to Luebbers, said Wednesday he was working on a notice of appeal against the board of review's finding and would probably file it today.

Olinger said the contradictory orders of the state and the county court left the city "not knowing where to turn."

"If the referendum vote had been in favor of fluoridation we would not have been as much in need of testing the law," Olinger said Wednesday.

Atty. Harvey Immerman, whose complaint last summer prompted the state's fluoridation order here, said he believes the state appellate court will uphold the validity of the fluoridation law.

But J. Julian Bowman, president of the Citizen's Committee Against Fluoridation, said "the moment it gets into court it's laughable." He called fluoridation "the hoax of the century," and said his group will expand its efforts to other Ohio cities.

The anti-fluoridationists contend that sodium fluoride is a poison that has caused many deaths that are on record. They claim the scientific community has not adequately researched fluoridation.

And they say fluoridation violates the constitutional rights of people to decide what is taken into their bodies.

Olinger said that if the appellate court upholds the fluoridation law the City Council still will have to vote on whether to go along.

If they or the anti-fluoridationists decide to keep the fluoride battle going, it could go all the way to the Ohio Supreme Court, he said.

Arab Oil Cutoff Sparked Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It is no longer a problem," said Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers after meeting with President Nixon on the fuel shortage. "It is a crisis of major proportions."

"We are heading toward the most acute shortages of energy since World War II," Nixon told the American people in a nationally televised address Wednesday night.

Just three weeks after Arab oil nations cut off oil shipments to the United States, Americans have begun to realize just how serious the fuel situation may be this winter.

Nixon, seeking emergency powers from Congress to cut down on energy demand and preserve petroleum supplies, recognized the Arab oil weapon in his speech, saying it will mean more than two million fewer barrels of oil daily by the end of the month.

Petroleum supplies will be at least 10 per cent and maybe 17 per cent short of needs, the President said.

A few weeks ago, however, few people inside or outside the government saw the situation in the same grim light that Nixon saw it in his speech.

Before the Arab nations decided to wield the oil weapon, the administration was saying the nation would be able to survive the winter despite an already tight supply situation.

It didn't become clear to the administration until about a week ago just how serious the shortage will be.

Emerging from a meeting with the White House energy adviser John A. Love last Thursday, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the "crisis is much worse than all of us had anticipated a week ago."

Love conceded to reporters Wednesday night: "We have an emergency now." He and Nixon said the administration is going ahead with developing plans to ration gasoline.

The arithmetic of the crisis has changed dramatically in a few short weeks.

Less than a month ago, U.S. officials were saying that the nation gets only about 6 per cent of the oil used by Americans from Arab nations. But that amount, it turns out, is in direct shipments.

If direct and indirect shipments are figured, the shortages range between 10 and 17 per cent, according to Nixon. Some of his experts say it could be as high as 21 per cent.

Administration experts had expected an oil shortfall of between 100,000 and 800,000 barrels a day before the Arab oil cutoff was announced.

But they said the cutoff threatens the nation with a loss of between 2 million and 2.5 million barrels of oil a day on top of that. The nation uses about 17.4 million barrels daily.

The potential shortage could be as high as 3 million barrels daily if the Pentagon is forced to use only domestic oil sources for its supplies. The military now gets about half its supplies — or 300,000 barrels daily — from foreign sources.

Experts said the shortage would be more acute if the United States decides to help out its European allies, also hurt by the Arab oil weapon.

Four Injured In 2-Car Collision

Four persons were injured and one cited in a two-car accident 7:58 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of Mound and Washington St.

Ezra A. Nunley Jr., 37, Chillicothe, was treated at Berger Hospital for injuries suffered when his car struck an auto driven by Wanda L. Phifer, 39, 303 W. Huston St., who also was injured in the collision.

Thelma Cockerham, 40, 514 S. Pickaway St., and Laura E. Bird, 38, 842 Maplewood Ave., passengers in the Phifer auto, also received injuries in the mishap.

According to the report of Ptl. Ray Dulin, Nunley was westbound on Mound St. and ran the stop sign at Washington St., striking the Phifer car which had stopped for the sign at Washington St. and was attempting to make a left turn onto Mound St.

Dulin cited Nunley for reckless operation resulting in an accident.

Xaviera Hollander Denies Shoplifting

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — Authoress Xaviera Hollander claimed in provincial court Wednesday she was collecting material for a book and was not shoplifting when she took three nightgowns from Hudson's Bay department store June 8.

The 29-year-old author of the best-seller "The Happy Hooker" pleaded innocent to taking the three nightgowns valued at $48.

Store security officer Elsie Yakowchik testified she and another security officer stopped Miss Hollander outside the store and found a yellow nightie loose in the shopping bag, a mauve one stuffed up the sleeve of her coat and a black and white one in her purse.

Sears Seeks Defective Dishwashers

Sears, Roebuck and Co., is continuing its efforts to locate owners of six models of portable dishwashers because of a possible safety-related defect.

T. M. Feliksik, store manager of Sears, 132 W. Main St. said the models can be identified as model Nos. 587.720210, 587.720211, 587.720310, 587.720311, 587.720410 and 587.720411. The unit can be identified by the model number located on the inside door frame.

He said some 65,000 units in question were produced since April, 1972.

The spokesman said that in production some door panels were placed in such a manner as to pinch timer motor wires causing a potential shock hazard, if not properly grounded.

Customers were urged to disconnect their units and to contact their nearest Sears unit at 474-2184 for inspection as soon as possible.

Sears said it has reported the possibility of a malfunction to the Consumer Product Safety Commission. There have been no reported injuries.

Sears also sells other models of portable dishwashers. These dishwashers are not affected.

Arctic Air Fans Out Over Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold arctic air fanned out across the northern Plains today, sending temperatures below zero as light snow or rain lingered over widely scattered areas of the nation.

The mercury dipped below zero over much of North Dakota and northeastern Montana. Light snow dusted parts of Montana and areas near Lake Superior. There was rain in Lower Michigan.

Fog shrouded much of the Gulf coast states with some drizzle in eastern Georgia. Light drizzle also persisted in parts of Colorado, Kansas, the Texas Panhandle and Arkansas.

Some thunderstorms rolled over Arkansas and northwestern Mississippi. In all cases the measurable rainfall was less than half an inch.

Rain with snow in the mountains was scattered over the Northwest.

Cold wave warnings were issued Wednesday night for parts of Iowa and South Dakota and a freeze warning was posted for West Virginia.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 12 at Havre, Mont., to 76 at both Corpus Christi, Tex., and Key West, Fla.

Arrests

Robert Stranix Jr., 31, Columbus, driving while intoxicated.

Daniel R. Hulse, 21, Ashville, driving while intoxicated.

Arab Oil Cutoff Sparked Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It is no longer a problem," said Arkansas Gov. Dale Bumpers after meeting with President Nixon on the fuel shortage. "It is a crisis of major proportions."

"We are heading toward the most acute shortages of energy since World War II," Nixon told the American people in a nationally televised address Wednesday night.

Just three weeks after Arab oil nations cut off oil shipments to the United States, Americans have begun to realize just how serious the fuel situation may be this winter.

Nixon, seeking emergency powers from Congress to cut down on energy demand and preserve petroleum supplies, recognized the Arab oil weapon in his speech, saying it will mean more than two million fewer barrels of oil daily by the end of the month.

Petroleum supplies will be at least 10 per cent and maybe 17 per cent short of needs, the President said.

Before the Arab nations decided to wield the oil weapon, the administration was saying the nation would be able to survive the winter despite an already tight supply situation.

It didn't become clear to the administration until about a week ago just how serious the shortage will be.

Emerging from a meeting with the White House energy adviser John A. Love last Thursday, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the "crisis is much worse than all of us had anticipated a week ago."

Less than a month ago, U.S. officials were saying that the nation gets only about 6 per cent of the oil used by Americans from Arab nations. But that amount, it turns out, is in direct shipments.

If direct and indirect shipments are figured, the shortages range between 10 and 17 per cent, according to Nixon. Some of his experts say it could be as high as 21 per cent.

Administration experts had expected an oil shortfall of between 100,000 and 800,000 barrels a day before the Arab oil cutoff was announced.

But they said the cutoff threatens the nation with a loss of between 2 million and 2.5 million barrels of oil a day on top of that. The nation uses about 17.4 million barrels daily.

The potential shortage could be as high as 3 million barrels daily if the Pentagon is forced to use only domestic oil sources for its supplies. The military now gets about half its supplies — or 300,000 barrels daily — from foreign sources.

Experts said the shortage would be more acute if the United States decides to help out its European allies, also hurt by the Arab oil weapon.
